DEWEY MAKING A MOST HEROIC STAND.

Insurgents Moving on Manila--Spanish Fleet With 10,000 Troops Declared Left Spain for Philippines--Two Monitors About Leaving to Reinforce Dewey.

[illegible] MANILA. DO THEY SEEM ALARMED

—ARE NOW— [illegible] REBELS GAINING GROUND. —OR DID THEY— "SEE THINGS [illegible]"

Insurgents Cut Railway Outside Town and Advance Within Four Miles of Manila.

Washington, June 6.--After a lot of small talk in rumors of naval engagements, the landing of troops and such matters, at the naval department there came at the close of the day disappointing bit of news included in a report from Admiral Dewey of important successes achieved by the insurgents at Manila.

Dewey cabled Swift to the Madrid reports insurgents have cut the railway outside the town and advanced within four miles of Manila.

The officials have been more anxious than they are to betray as to Admiral Dewey's situation. They were not, seemingly, oblivious of danger to the fleet, but an impression was gaining ground that the admiral had maintained the same measure of success in his engagements in Manila bay that rewarded his first efforts. The report received goes to show that his plans are working out admirably, that he has proved to the insurgents the burden of his military operations against the Spanish and that he has prevented the organization of the insurgent leaders of the Spaniards which appeared at the time to be threatening.

WILL PRISONERS BE TREATED.

There is some speculation here as to how the insurgents will treat the prisoners they have taken, who are more numerous, it is said, that all the captures made by the Cuban insurgents since their war began.

It was reported soon after he had accepted the cooperation of the insurgent chief Aguinaldo that Admiral Dewey would have to insist that the insurgents observed the rules of civilized warfare. This question was made necessary by horrible tales told of the barbarous treatment of prisoners captured by the insurgents. It is hoped that Aguinaldo will see that this agreement is observed in the case of the 1800 prisoners he now holds, for it is believed in official circles of the civilized nations of the civilized world will hold the United States morally responsible for any great excesses that may be committed in the Philippines as a result of our action there.

Navy Department officials declare that Dewey is not responsible for the equipment and maintenance of these forces, which is most important, considering the limited resources of the admiral in the matter of provisions.

ANOTHER MONITOR FOR MANILA.

The navy department gave orders today that the double turretted monitor Monadnock, now at Mare Island, Cal., should be made ready to sail for Manila within five days and the necessary orders were hurriedly telegraphed.

The Monterey will not wait for the departure of the Monadnock, but should be off in the course of a few hours under the convoy of the Brutus. The navy department will immediately procure another merchant ship to accompany the Monadnock on her 8000 mile voyage. The Monadnock is a most powerful double turretted monitor. With twin screws and 3000 horsepower engines she is easily able to make 12 knots an hour. Built on the general lines of the Puritan, she has better engines and more power than that monitor. She carries four 10-inch guns, having two turrets, besides two four-inch rapid-fire guns in a casemate and a numerous secondary battery. Her coal capacity is 250 tons in bunkers and almost as much more in storage room can be found on the decks. Consequently the Monadnock has the ability to make a longer cruise without replenishing her coal supply, yet her capacity is still too small to permit her to make the passage from Honolulu to the Philippines unassisted.

With these two monitors, Admiral Dewey will be fully able to take care of the Spanish even should the much talked of Cadiz fleet undertake to attack him in Manila harbor. The monitors can draw only 14½ feet of water, or ten feet less than the battleship Oregon, and therefore would be able to take their position in the shallow water where the Spanish battleship could not possibly reach them and hammer away at the latter to their heart's content, protecting themselves so small a mark as to render it very difficult for the Spanish gunners to reply effectively. Dewey is, no doubt, emboldened by the Monadnock's coming, for before receiving that the Mare Island navy yard ship had not yet voyaged from the Delaware clean across the bottom of South America, a voyage longer really than that made by the Oregon.

STILL REJOICING.

The members of the naval construction corps are still quietly rejoicing over the splendid exploit of Hobson and Powell. The latter, a young cadet who sat through the long hours in a steam launch under the Spanish fire, waiting to fetch away Hobson and his crew, is also a member of the construction corps, as he was assigned to the force of naval architecture at Annapolis.

That Cuba's fleet which was reported to be doing strange things in the West Indies yesterday is not giving the naval officials any concern. They have learned through the state department that the Spanish ships were at Cadiz last Friday.

Up to the close of office hours could not be learned at the war or navy departments that any news had reached there to show that troops had landed in force near Santiago and the officials indulge no complaint of their treatment.

Maj. De Grandpre, military attache of the French embassy, left tonight for Tampa, where he will proceed with the troops embarking for Cuba. Prince Lievan of Russia, a captain of the Russian royal artillery and recently assigned for special service in connection with the war, called on the war and navy officials today and later left for the south. These are the last of the foreign observers to leave for the seat of action.

It was stated at several of the foreign embassies and legations today that there was no warrant for the published reports that the foreign military and naval attaches were making unfavorable reports to their home offices on the American army and navy, particularly the former. It is said these foreign observers know from experience the difficulties attending the equipment of new levies and that they give generous recognition to the manner in which 200,000 men have been assembled, armed and equipped. The foreign experts say that more or less confusion is unavoidable in affairs so gigantic and striking as that military science recognizes this confusion as inseparable from the assembling of a large volunteer force.

Hong Kong, June 6. The correspondent of the Associated Press at Manila, under date of June 2, says:

"I have traversed the whole region of fighting during the last three days in spite of the prohibition. I found the insurgents strongly posted at Caloocan, eight miles north of Manila, and at Bacoor, the same distance south. To the east I found nothing in the way of insurgent intrenchments.

"The Spaniards hold the whole Pasig river, which falls into the bay immediately below the town of Manila, to the lagoon. The two sections of the insurgent forces signal their movements with fire balloons.

"To the northward the rising is general and the Spaniards are few. The railway has been cut in several places and the English overseers have been warned off.

HAVE CUT RAILWAYS.

Hong Kong, June 6. The British gunboat Swift, which has just arrived from Manila, reports that the insurgents have cut the railways outside the town and advanced to within four miles of the city. A Spanish regiment mutinied and shot its officers.

Fighting between the insurgents and the Spanish troops is frequent and the former brought a thousand prisoners to Cavite.

The Americans are reported at Manila assist the insurgents with boats and rapid fire guns. The Swift reports a rumor that the insurgent chief captured and tortured a number of priests. The British residents at the time the Swift left still remained in Manila, but other foreigners were taking refuge on the foreign shipping.

It Was the Massachusetts That Fired at Something, Not the Oregon--What Was It?

Copyright 1898 by Associated Press.

On board the Associated Press dispatch boat Dauntless, off Santiago de Cuba, June 5 via Kingston, Ja., June 6, 10 A. M.--Whether the American fleet sank a Spanish torpedo boat destroyer on Friday night has not been absolutely confirmed.

At 10 o'clock Friday night, the cruiser New Orleans discovered what appeared to be a torpedo boat destroyer close to the shore and signalled the flagship New York that it was evident a night torpedo attack was to be made. Both the New York and New Orleans opened fire and their shells burst around the craft object. Finally a thirteen inch shell from the Massachusetts hit the Oregon as first reported was fired and exploded, and the searchlights of the vessel were turned on the spot where the supposed destroyer had been sighted, but not a trace of the boat could be found and it is believed pleased the New York that she was sunk.

The first assumption was that the vessel was the Furor, but it is believed now that it was the Pluton of the Furor, as the Furor is not understood to have been at Santiago. On Saturday two Schwarzkopf torpedoes were floating two miles south of El Morro. This is the class of torpedoes used by the Spanish and one of the two found had only the primer lost.

Many officers of the fleet believe that a darkened railroad train that was moving along the shore was real object of the bombardment instead of a destroyer. No wreckage has been found, no dead bodies have been noticed and it is possible that the torpedoes were those fired at the spider Montauk when Lieut. Hobson sunk her, which subsequently floated out of the harbor.

Admiral Sampson is determined not to allow the Spanish to remove the Merrimac from the spot where she lies. On Saturday it was reported that the Spaniards were working at the hulk and the American fleet formed in line of battle with the orders to bombard. It turned out that the Spaniards were not so engaged and the fleet withdrew. Admiral Sampson has given orders that El Morro, where the heroes of the Merrimac are imprisoned, should by spared in the firing. Admiral Cervera's polite assurances were accompanied by the statement that Lieut. Hobson and his men were confined there. This placing of prisoners in the direct line of fire is denounced by the American officers as a barbarous act of doubtful authority and as not of moderate policy.

Havana, June 6. 1 P. M. At 5 o'clock this morning 21 vessels of the American fleet opened fire upon the fortifications at the entrance to Santiago harbor and along the coast line. The firing ceased about 11 o'clock. Further details are not yet known here.

Yesterday Col. Alden, with a Spanish force, established a fire near Punta Cabrera from the insurgents on the land side and from the American warships. The Spanish forces are well intrenched on the line from Siboney to Aguaderos and today they checked an attempt of the American forces to land and repelled them.

With the fleet off Santiago de Cuba, June 3, 6 P. M., via Kingston, Ja., June 6 (delayed in transmission.) All the members of the Merrimac expedition are safe. Two are slightly wounded, but Lieut. Hobson escaped without a scratch. This almost incredibly good news was brought out this afternoon by Rear Admiral Sampson by Admiral Cervera's chief of staff, under a flag of truce.

"Admiral Cervera," said Capt. Buistemento y Oviedo, "is so touched by the bravery of your men, that he felt it only right you should know that they are alive. They are prisoners of war and are being well treated."

"Tremendous enthusiasm reigns of the complete success of the expedition. During the day the Merrimac was plainly seen lying athwart the channel. She could hardly have been placed better, as she been sunk in the daylight and with no accompaniment of firing. It was an anxious day on all the ships. By noon officers and men feared the Merrimac's heroes had died in their noble work; but at 2 o'clock this afternoon a little black tug flying a white flag was seen coming out from the southern hills of the harbor. Slowly she moved toward the New York. The flagship's assistant Chief of Staff Staunton boarded the Vixen flying a flag of truce, and met the Spanish tug, which proved to be the Colon, half way. The latter's Capt. Oviedo signified his desire to see Admiral Sampson personally, and he was taken on board the flagship. The enthusiasm as the news spread from signals from the Vixen was so intense that the appearance of the Spanish captain over the side of the New York hardly excited their surprise that might be expected. Admiral Sampson greeted Capt. Oviedo almost cordially, thanked Admiral Cervera for his gallant courtesy and made the preliminary arrangements for the exchange of Lieut. Hobson and his seven heroes.

"Hobson and they have naturally learned much about the fortifications, it is hardly likely that they will be exchanged for some time. After a friendly chat in the cabin Admiral Sampson sat on deck with Captain Oviedo and poured out his sips with pride.

Stores and clothing for the Merrimac men were put aboard the Colon, and Capt. Oviedo went back in his little black tug under the flag of truce, never used perhaps to a more chivalrous purpose.

The names of the two wounded men were not ascertained. One has a slight wound in the cheek and the other in the hip. After blowing up the Merrimac Lieut. Hobson and his party swam ashore and were captured.

Key West, Fla., June 6--3.55 P. M. An auxiliary cruiser of the United States fleet which left Santiago de Cuba at 1 o'clock on Saturday morning, came in here this afternoon for coal. She had been in Santiago waters since Wednesday morning, but was with the other ships of the squadron only part of that time, and saw nothing in the nature of a bombardment.

She reports, however, that on Friday night, when about a mile from shore, what was thought to be a Spanish torpedo boat was sighted, heeded for the cruiser. Three or four ships immediately made a heavy fire upon her and when the smoke cleared away the torpedo boat had disappeared, having apparently put back into the harbor.

Apart from the sinking of the Merrimac, the chances of Santiago de Cuba by Lieut. Hobson and his gallant crew, the torpedo attack was the only occurrence coming within the knowledge of the officers of the cruiser. The latter say the sunken collier effectually blocks the channel.

Their version of the affair is similar to the report of the subject cabled to the Associated Press.

The American officers, who saw the Merrimac's perilous adventure say it is a wonder anyone on board escaped. The Spaniards evidently lighted the Merrimac and permitted her to pass the first line of their batteries, then opened on her with the Spanish guns to keep on her and to seemed as though thousands of projectiles were fired at the collier. The night was dark, the American officers also say, and a launch from the fleet went into the harbor entrance to tow the Merrimac hoping to pick up Lieut. Hobson and his men. But at daybreak she had not donned and being disdrell the Spaniards opened fire on the launch which had a narrow escape but succeeded in regaining the fleet.

While off Santiago de Cuba, the officers of the auxiliary cruiser which arrived here today recognized the Spanish cruiser Cristobal Colon, and they also saw two other ships of identical appearance in the harbor of Santiago de Cuba.

HOUSE.

Washington, June 6. When the House met today, upon motion of Mr. Linney (Rep. Pa.) the consideration of the bill providing for the exercise of suffrage by volunteer soldiers and sailors in the Congressional elections was made a special order for tomorrow. Consideration of a patent monitor was interrupted at 12.05 o'clock, by the receipt of the revenue bill from the Senate and Mr. Dalzell (Rep. Pa.) from the committee on rules, announced a resolution, introduced by Mr. Dingley providing for an hour dedicated to vote upon agreed non-concurrence and sending the bill to conference.

The previous question was ordered upon the resolution and Mr. Dalzell, opening in support, said it was intended to expedite the enactment of the emergency revenue measure for the earliest possible relief of the treasury, upon which there was a daily demand of $1,000,000. Replying to a question from Mr. Burtlett (Ga.) the adoption of the resolution would prevent any separate vote upon the Senate amendments. He said it would be in the province of the House to reject finally the conference report, but he could give no assurance that an opportunity would ever be given to vote on particular amendments.

Mr. Bailey (Dem., Tex.) addressing himself to the Democratic position said the pending measure was not political in the sense of an ordinary tariff measure and that no one party was responsible for it. Likewise voting upon separate amendments in the general tariff measure might result in destroying the equity of an entire schedule, but such objection could not be urged in behalving one. He took issue with Mr. Dingley in claiming the treasury condition presented a "dire necessity" for immediate passage of the measure and in this connection reviewed the recent treasury statement showing that a total of $100,000,000 was available, including the gold reserve, or $61,000,000 set apart for ordinary expenditures of the government. With this condition, Mr. Bailey said there was no ground for forcing the House to forge the rights and duty to consider separately important provisions added by the Senate.

Mr. Swanson (Dem., Va.) and Mr. McMillan (Dem., Tenn.) followed Mr. Bailey, citing notable instances where both sides of the House should vote directly upon amendments. The tobacco tax and the provisions for secret service orders were noted.

Mr. Dingley, concluding in support of the resolution, said it was decided, with the one adopted when the tariff bill of 1897 came from the Senate, and practically identical with that adopted by the Democrats in 1894, adding experience had made it plain that best results were to be obtained by sending immediately bills to conference in cases where a large number of amendments developed complicated differences have been added. Referring to the incorporation of 218 amendments in the Senate, Mr. Dingley said that body with 90 members had considered five weeks the bill and should the House with four times that number of members proceed with the same latitude to consider the amendments it would be winter before action could be secured. He argued that the pending measure was one of emergency and should be put upon the statute books to relieve the ordinary revenues from extraordinary demands and to begin at the earliest moment the payment of the enormous war debt.

The vote was then taken upon the resolution, Mr. Bailey demanding the yeas and nays, the roll call resulting yeas 187, nays 106.

The vote was strictly party. The House then voted to non-concur and agreed to the conference and the Speaker named Mr. Dingley (Rep., Me.) and Payne (Rep., N. Y.) and Bailey (Dem., Tex.) as conferees.

The Senate bill to revise and perfect the classification of letters patent and printed publications in the patent office was considered under suspension of rules. Its object as explained by Mr. Hicks (Rep., Pa.) was to facilitate in the patent office the determination of the novelty of inventions. It provided for an annual expense of $52,000 but Mr. Hicks said but $46,000 would be required. Mr. Dockery (Dem., Mo.) attacked the bill declaring that it was passed chiefly in the interest of patent attorneys.

Mr. Livingston (Dem., Ga.) and Mr. Lovering (Rep., Mass.) denied the contention of the opposition and insisted the patent office was not administered properly because adequate executive protection had not been made.

Mr. Bland (Dem., Mo.) antagonized and Messrs. Hill (Rep., Conn.) and Mr. Sherman (Rep., N. Y.) supported the measure. Mr. Colman (Rep., Ky.) opposed present passage.

The bill was passed--154 to 58.

At 3.05 P. M. the House adjourned.

THE SENATE.

Washington, June 6. Beyond the passage of an urgent deficiency bill made necessary by the war with Spain the Senate accomplished little today. The deficiency measure carries appropriations for the war and navy establishments aggregating $17,749,000. These appropriations are in addition to the estimates to be carried later by the general deficiency bill. During the greater part of the session the measure providing for the taking of the census and subsequent censuses was under consideration but no progress was made toward its consideration.

At 4.40 P. M. the Senate went into executive session and adjourned.

BANK TAX PROVISION OF REVENUE BILL.

Washington, June 6. The following is the text of the bank tax provision of the war revenue bill as passed by the Senate:

Bankers doing or employing a capital not exceeding $25,000 shall pay $50; when doing or employing a capital exceeding $25,000, for every additional thousand in excess of $25,000, $2, and in estimating capital surplus shall be included. The amount of such annual tax shall in all cases be computed on the basis of the capital and surplus for the preceding fiscal year. Every person, firm or company, and every incorporated or other bank having a place

THE TALK OF THE CITY.

It's of Interest to Our Readers Because It Refers to Bangor People.

It's astonishing how good news will spread. From every ward and street we hear of our people talking about the workings of the little conqueror. Merit and honorable methods receive their just reward. Solomon cascades cropping up that it is next to impossible to investigate them all, but we have taken a few of them in hand and will give them publicity for the benefit of our readers. Our representative obtained the following statement of facts in a personal interview. They are true in every particular and to better evidence can be obtained than some indorsement.

Mr. A. O. Hall, who lives at No. 102 Fruit street says: "I have had a backache off and on for a long time. I was out West and it became so severe I was unable to stoop or lift anything. I always caught it and the effect was apparent for hours at a time. In lifting down it hurt me so severely in every position except on one side, and even that in time would ache with a dull, heavy feeling. Physicians told me my kidneys were out of order so I went to Arthur Warren's drug store and got Doan's Kidney Pills. I used them all and the result surprised my exceedingly. The backache disappeared. Between the ticks of a watch a fly could move eight times around the globe.

Many a husband imagines that his wife is happy, healthy and strong, when she is really enduring in silence, almost unbearable tortures. She meets him at the door on his return from work or business with a smile and a kiss. To be sure, she looks a little white and pallid, but she is vivacious and the soul in his presence, and he does not realize that anything is wrong. If he had but come home during the middle of the day, he would have found, instead of the cheerful wife, a weak, sickly, nervous invalid, with headache, pains in the back, "attacks" in the side, bearing and dragging down sensations and utter despondency and melancholy.

In almost every case of this kind the woman is really suffering from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism. Frequently she does not realize her own condition. If she does, she shrinks from undergoing the "examinations" and "local treatment" insisted upon by the average physician. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the medicine needed by women who suffer in this way. It acts directly on the secretive organs concerned, and makes them strong, healthy and vigorous. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration, soothes pain and tones and builds up the shattered nerves. It transforms weak, sickly, nervous, dependent invalids into happy, healthy wives and competent mothers. It fits for womanhood and motherhood. It makes easy examinations unnecessary. Honest dealers do not suggest substitutes for it for the added profit they realize thereon.

"I had suffered untold misery for years with ovarian trouble, an exhausting drain, constipation, painful periods, and other attendant troubles," writes Mrs. Annie Jones, of No. 97 Seventh Street, Memphis, Shelby Co., Tenn. "Thank God, my health has been fully restored and I can gladly say I am a well woman to-day. I used six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and was completely cured."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation and biliousness. They never gripe. All good dealers keep them.

GREAT SPRING CLOSING OUT SALE OF CLOSING OUT SALE.

(Copyright 1898 by Associated Press.)

Manila, May 20, via Hong Kong, June 6. Many natives will try to secure the large reward the government has offered for the capture of the insurgent chief Aguinaldo, dead or alive. Already several of the insurgent officers have been assassinated.

It is officially declared that four armored cruisers, with colliers, torpedo boats and transports carrying 10,000 troops, have left Spain for eastern waters.

The Spaniards are utterly unimpressed by the naval defeat here. They explain that their squadron was vastly outclassed and are confident of a victory on shore.

The insurgents raided a railway station ten miles to the north of Manila and killed three priests and an officer. There has also been a pitched battle at a Spanish post south of Manila, near Cavite, the result being that the insurgents retired. The Spanish casualties were 150.

At Manila the work of constructing defences goes on. The Americans are always using their searchlights, but they never interfere with the work on the defences. The Spaniards believe that they are short of ammunition.

The governor has issued a proclamation offering the natives great concessions and declaring that the Americans will be powerless on the land.

Meanwhile the insurgents are steadily advancing along the coast, supported by the United States gunboat Petrel, and are driving the Spaniards into Manila. They have captured five important positions nine miles from the city and over 400 Spaniards have been killed. Four thousand Spanish reinforcements have been sent; but it is asserted that Aguinaldo will enter the city by June 15.

A bombardment will be avoided if possible.

The foreigners have held a public meeting and two steamers are ready at a moment's notice to take them to the protection of their own warships, or the Americans.

The greatest suspension bridge in the world is the Brooklyn bridge, which also leads the world in the number of its daily passengers. Its long span including approaches is 5860 feet, the distance between the towers 930 feet, the weight of the structure is 6,470 tons, its cost was over $15,000,000. The bridge cars carry about 45,000,000 people every year.

TIMELY TOPICS
SUGGESTED BY THE WAR.

ARMY AND NAVY PAY CHECKS.

At the army building and on Governor's Island yesterday publicity was given to an order recently issued by the Secretaries of War and the Navy. In effect this order directs army and navy paymasters with the troops or with ships in foreign countries, at the request of soldiers or sailors desiring to send money home, to issue paymasters' checks for the amount desired to the order of the person named by the applicant for the check. On receiving the check the soldier or sailor may mail it to the person to whose order it is drawn, and that person will not be obliged, of course, to pay exchange.

The same order also directs paymasters on duty in foreign countries where our troops are stationed to pay off all those who desire it in the money of the country in which they are stationed, at the actual exchange value. This will be a fine thing for our troops in Manila. The government has already bought 250,000 Mexican dollars, at 40 cents each, to be sent to Manila. Such of our troops or sailors who wish to spend their pay there may thus obtain about two of these dollars for one of our.

OUR BIG GUNS LONG LIVED.

Naval Ordnance Bureau reports from the officers on board the battleships and monitors in the West Indies speak of the highest terms of the behavior of the heavy guns mounted on these ships. Not one of the big guns has exhibited any signs of weakening, although some of them have already been fired more times than foreign ordnance experts expected they could be fired with safety. American naval officers, who know how guns are made down at the Washington Gun Factory, confidently predict that every big gun in Sampson's fleet will outlive the war, unless put out of action by the enemy.

Since the war began a deal of nonsense has been printed about the life of big guns, as the result of which the general opinion held among persons who have not had opportunity to know the truth is that one of the "peacemakers" on the Oregon, for example—a gun which lasts half a ton of steel through thirty-three inches of wrought iron—cannot be depended upon to stand the strain of more than a hundred firings, and may even go to pieces much sooner. It is not difficult to discover the origin of the "one hundred firings" fallacy. It is the home as that of some other similar ones.

Not long ago a book was published in England on "Modern Naval Artillery" in which was described the manufacture of heavy ordnance at the great Elswick factory. "Brassey's Naval Annual," the leading authority in Europe on naval statistics, declared, at the time the book came out, that there was no better authority on the subject of the life of big guns, and quoted from it in a statement "It is generally understood that the life of the 67-ton gun may be taken at 120 rounds and the 110-ton gun at 75 rounds, both with full charges." Capt. Orde Browne, the English ordnance expert, adds: "The number of rounds which a heavy gun will fire before becoming unserviceable is unfortunately very small."

England's failure to produce serviceable heavy guns on the hoop principle is notorious. The ridiculous behavior of the 110-ton guns on the Benbow, Barfleur and the Illustrious Victoria, which so target at the muzzles after a few firings that they had to be returned to the factory, created the popular impression that the big guns were unfit for war. And the experience of the Krupps, reputed to be the world's greatest gun makers, has been similar. Visitors to the Chicago fair remember the ugly looking 120-ton gun exhibited there by the Krupps. Gen. Nelson A. Miles took a look at this monster when he was abroad two years ago. He was told that it had been fired sixteen times and for fear of knocking it apart it wouldn't be fired again." England has discarded the "hooped" gun for the wire-wound, and English factories no longer make the type of gun mounted on all our fighting ships.

We began making modern guns only ten years ago, the armament of the first cruisers of the White quadron having been bought abroad. Just seven years ago this month the first contracts for gun forgings of modern construction were let to the Bethlehem Iron Company. We began the manufacture of the very type of guns about to be discarded abroad. Since that contract was let we have built a gun factory at the Washington Navy Yard, where have been built all the heavy guns on our battleships, monitors and fighting cruisers. Americans do not generally know it, but it is a fact, undisputed by foreign experts who have studied gunmaking in this country, that the Washington gun factory turns out the finest "hooped" guns in the world—for superior to Krupps'—and, in fact, the only heavy naval guns of this type which will stand the strain of long service.

Just how long our big naval guns may be expected to live is a matter of opinion, for none of them has died yet. Not one of them has ever even broken down in service. One of the Miantonomoh's 10-inch guns, now waiting for a chance to sink an enemy's ship, has had about as severe a test as any of the big guns in the navy, for the gun was one of the first turned out of the gun factory. Gunner Michael W. Gilmartin, now on duty at the New York Navy Yard, fired this gun more than a hundred times at the Indian Head proving grounds. That was some years ago, before the gun was mounted aboard ship. Since it was first shipped to the testing ground this gun has been fired more than 200 times, and it is just as fit for service today as the day it left the factory. No gun abroad can show such a record.

The Miantonomoh's guns, it must be remembered, were among our early guns in strength and stability they were inferior to the newer ones. The war with Spain may result in data from which may be determined the average life of the 12-inch and 13-inch guns, but ordnance officers say the war will have to go a long one to put any of our heavy guns out of action. That all of the new guns will be serviceable after as many as 300 firings is the opinion of many of the experts, and some place the firing much higher. Abroad, the gunmakers doubt that their big "hooped" guns would live through a single heavy engagement. American experts believe that Americans guns will outlive their machines—be serviceable when their places are usurped by guns of still finer construction.

While none of our big guns has been enough in service to indicate how many more times it may be safely fired, the fact that none of the Washington guns has ever burst in service goes a long way toward proving the superiority of American guns over those of foreign make. Down at Indian Head the other day a gunlayer was destroyed by the explosion of a high-explosive shell in the breech mechanism of an experiment. Fortunately, no one was injured. But, all round, such accidents under service conditions are of so rare an occurrence. Reports from our naval attaches show that those accidents are made so important in the newspapers, excepting where there is loss of life. Especially is this true in Germany, where a number of big Krupp guns have burst. The good behavior of American gunmaking is only another illustration of the ability of the Yankee to outstrip the foreigner.

DIXON THE WINNER.

New York, June 6. Geo. Dixon, the large colored boxer, gained a well earned decision over Eddie Santry, of Chicago, in the ring of the Lenox A. C. here tonight. They fought twenty very clean and scientific rounds and Santry proved himself to be a clever young gentleman.

FIERCE FIGHTING GOING ON.

Hong Kong, June 6. To the southward there has been fierce fighting on the Zapote River between Baeder and Las Pinas. The biggest battle of the present campaign was fought last Tuesday (May 31) the insurgents attacked on the left branch of the Zapote, waded across amid a typhoon, forced the banks for several miles along and carried the Spanish trenches with knives. Yesterday (June 1) they tried the right branch of the Zapote, but failed. The Spaniards employed artillery all day, but no definite loss are reported. Today there have been only ineffective skirmishes.

The country is densely wooded and swampy. Both parties shoot aimlessly. I got in the middle of the firing but nobody was hurt. Nothing was visible in the tremendous baseblade and I believe nobody knew what he was shooting at. Both sides were "duffers." The insurgents, however, are excellent fighters.

The Spaniards say they were victorious yesterday, but that they cannot follow up the victory and annihilate the rebels because of the American warships at Cavite. Moreover, they say it is necessary to save their energies for the American troops. Meanwhile the fidality of Manila is an impenetrable block of ambuscades.

BOTH SIDES ATTACK.

(Copyright 1898 by Associated Press.)

Port au Prince, June 6. Advices from Santiago de Cuba today say that this morning about 7.45 a. m. a lively cannonade was heard in the direction of Aguadores. It increased in intensity on both sides and towards 8 o'clock became violent. At half past 8 it was still very furious. No further details have been received, but it is believed that the Spanish ships anchored in the bay of Santiago aid the insurgents in check when the latter were attacking the town. It is said here, but the source of information is doubtful, that a United States troopship debarked troops under the protection of the fire from the American squadron.

News has reached Port au Prince from Mole St. Nicholas that a combat took place yesterday off Jan Rabel, between Port de Paix and the Mole. Three Spanish warships and four Americans were engaged. After a brief but lively combat the Americans retired. This news lacks confirmation.

CITY HALL BULLETINS.

London, June 7. The Hong Kong correspondent of the Standard says: Advices from Manila say that Admiral Dewey has authorized the steamers now blockaded in the river to be off Cavite in readiness to receive foreigners.

The Spaniards are losing from ammunition and food prices almost daily, so persistent are the rebel attacks. The natives are flocking to Aguinaldo's standard. He is on the whole conducting the campaign on sound principles.

In the course of a pitched battle on May 30 a number of the native contingents deserted the Spanish colors for the insurgents.

Judging from the general tenor of the news from Manila there is reason to believe that the city will fall into the hands of Dewey before the arrival of the American troops.

MEDALS FOR THE HEROES.

Washington, June 6. Representative Hermann of Montana has introduced a joint resolution directing the secretary of the navy to have prepared and delivered suitable medals of honor to Lieut. Hobson and the members of his crew for gallant heroic and patriotic services rendered to the United States in Santiago harbor on June 3, 1898. It appropriates $500 for the purpose.

BASE BALL
PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

Adrian Anson appears to have completely disappeared from the baseball horizon. Occasionally one hears his name mentioned but even then it is not in any way that ties him with the game of the game. Only memories of him are heard. "I understand," says George Decker, of the St. Louis club, who played under Anson for about two years, "that Anson has not been to see a ball game this year. The old man's heart must be almost broken. A double calamity befell him, which he was turned down as the Chicago club after so many years of faithful service, and was then fooled in his prospects. A friend of mine who saw Anson on the streets of Chicago within the past week tells me that he is a changed man—that Anson of Baltimore, the Anson who was pointed out to him with pride for the way in which he carried his age—is no more. But for Anson having been turned contract he would have been turned down long ago. So I think that Anson will catch on again. Well, if he does catch on as a manager in the big League he will not last more than a season. His style of playing is that of twenty years ago, and he will never be successful today or in the seasons to come. He was a fine man to work for, and his great fault was his kindness to players—a kindness that was much abused."

John T. Brush, president of the Cincinnati club, is making a tour of the Eastern cities with his team and is receiving notice and praise wherever he appears before up the new rules. Mr. Brush said to the Sun reporter:

"As far as I can see from all accounts the majority of the league clubs are trying to obey the rules which we drew up at St. Louis. But I want to say that the umpires are chiefly to blame for any disorderly behavior on the part of the players. If they fail to eject the offenders immediately from the game, and to permit any kind of kicking in my opinion as much of a crime as the player who wrangles with him, and should be disciplined forthwith by the president of the league. No, I do not believe an umpire should be fined for not enforcing the rules. That would not be sufficient punishment. He should be suspended from the staff, no matter who it might be.

"The League has gone on record in black and white as being opposed to kicking and they duly presidents have issued a command to uphold the umpires and to wish their players for kicking under all circumstances. Nobody has interfered with the umpires since they were first appointed.

Yale and Princeton begun their annual series of baseball games on Saturday. For two years Princeton has won the games, although the record of games played since Yale and Princeton began playing round series now stands Yale, 10, Princeton, 21. For the past two weeks the Yale team has been running through a streak of very hard luck in the shape of severe physical injuries. Parsons, who had been pitching out at opposing teams, was struck in his twirling arm by a foul hit, and in the next two games Yale's opponents made 35 runs. He has partially regained his form and held Brown down to eight hits. Camp is just recovering from an injury to his left leg. Leaving unable to appear on the field for three weeks and his lack of practice showed in the Brown game when he made three errors. A severe strain has kept Joe Sanders off the nine for over a week. He limps painfully and is unable to cover his left diagonal. The experiment of putting Hazen back on second and Prentiss Robison at third has been tried, but Robison's unfortunatness showed to fairness. The injuries of the players have discouraged the team so much that Capt. Greenway dismissed the players from practice in sight out of the past eleven days.

It took one hour and three minutes to pass the first four innings at the Polo grounds in New York the other day when a fast second was going on.

New York Sun: It is a fact that one of the umpires now officiating on the league staff said to a player the other day: "I'm sorry, but I'll have to decline you out."

It is probable that a majority of the players will oppose President Young in his fight for the changes in the umpire staff. Kheefe, Sheridan and Carpenter will be recommended to him as competent officials to fill the vacancies.

Changes are promised in the Brooklyn team.

Colt has made but two mistakes in 18 games.

Pitcher Vickery, formerly of Hartford, is to join New Bedford.

Pitcher Powell, of the Clevelands, has won six games out of the nine in which he has pitched. He has lost to St. Louis, Louisville and New York.

Billy Hamilton has batted safely in every game from May 10 to the present time. In the twenty games played during that time he has made 34 hits with a total of 45.

President James A. Hart has asked for the dismissal of Umpire Lynch, charging him with incompetency, indifference, abuse of power and inability to control his temper on the ball field.

The Western Association will scale the salaries of its players 25 per cent. The teams this year are stronger than ever before and each city wants to keep them intact, feeling that they will be very valuable by the end of the season.

It has been suggested that a good New England league town would be Natick. It is necessary to transfer any team from its present location. If it is a town that has given the best of hot for anything approaching to the game.—Brockton Enterprise.

Second Baseman Hulen has got through with Newport. He told Manager Ryan that he had a bad ankle and could not go to Brockton. As the manager had not seen any signs of lameness he told Mills to accompany the team or consider himself out of a job. Mills accepted the proposition and did not accompany the club.

Frank Paterson, the official scorer of the Baltimore club, writes in the Baltimore Sun: Big Jim McGann has been a brilliant and shining exception to the general mediocrity of the team's work. He has played his position excellently, has batted hard and has worked hard and conscientiously all the time. The real trouble is that there are too many players on the team to consider themselves stars, and are thinking of their individual averages and their reputations and drawing their big salaries, instead of working for the team's success.

Bobby Carruthers, the old Brooklyn pitcher, has been appointed a Western league umpire.

Nance has been formed to Paterson by Louisville.

Charles McIntyre, the infielder on the Newark team, Atlantic League has been secured by Fall River.

Dr. Bagner, who is the club physician at Philadelphia, gave Thomson's ankle a thorough sprain of the muscles of the ankle, and stated that he would never be able to play steadily again. It may have been a day or two ago, but he would have been compelled to lay off frequently. Knowing this, Thompson, who is at the lower extremity, made up his mind to quit ball playing and this he did without sending any word to the club officials.

Tom Cy Young, Cleveland has a second Nehemiah. Tom Cleveland man is doing as strong as ever this season.

POLITICAL NOTES.

There are stirrings of discontent with Tammany Hall organization in the 21st district, from the leadership which Justice White was defeated a few months ago. The present leader, Justice Charles Wyde and his followers are unsuccessful in securing the renomination for Congressman Cochran, who has been in politics and from this soothing was removed by action of the last Legislature.

New York's expenditure for schools this year, is 50 per cent greater than the amount the Spanish nation spends on education last year. The average pay of a teacher in Spain is $100 a year.

Mr. Warwick, of Philadelphia, has introduced a resolution authorizing the city of Philadelphia to borrow from the United States government for the construction of a $1 Tri-Centennial dollar, which would be highly esteemed among numismatists, and the superfluity limited to eight hundred thousand dollars, $500 a year for his services and a room in the City Hall.

The Gold Democrats of Alabama propose themselves to be much disgusted with the indifference shown by their brethren and predecessors at the recent convention in Anniston. All the minority resolutions held for the choice of delegates to the gold men were defeated and the gold men were defeated and disgusted, but will continue to stay in the party. It adopted a platform which is, by no means satisfactory to the gold men who expected that the financial question would be disregarded entirely in the August election in the Cotton State this year. The election of governor and other State officers, and the Gold Democrats consider, there is one factor in the situation, they expected for Gen. Palmer in 1896 6,500 votes in the State, the Populist vote having been 25,000 and the Silver Democrats are more desirous of appealing the Populists than they are the gold men.

The Republicans of the First District of Tennessee have nominated Congressman Brownlow for Congress. The First Tennessee district, as what is known as the Mountain district, was intensely Republican during the war and extends east of Knoxville to the Virginia border. Hon. Mel Brownlow is a nephew of "William G. or "Parson" Brownlow, former United States Senator and his nomination is deemed equivalent to an election. The Republicans of the mountain counties of Tennessee have never wavered in their allegiance to their party, and in the biography of Mr. Brownlow, which appears in the "Red Book" Congressional Directory, in this concluding phrase, characteristic of the position of the mountain Republicans of Tennessee: "This district furnished more white soldiers to the Union army than any in the United States." The Second Congressional district of Tennessee, also a mountain district, and which includes the city of Knoxville, is likewise overwhelmingly Republican.

The June election in Oregon for governor and other State officers does not seem likely to be decisive enough to warrant an expedition, the two Republican factions having to some extent patched up their differences. The last Oregon Legislature was divided among three parties, of which the Republicans were the strongest in numbers, but the Populists and not a clear majority. In the Presidential election of 1896 the McKinley majority in Oregon was 2,110. The vacancy caused by the death of the eccentric jurist, Judge Deady, of the United States District Court, has been filled by the appointment of George A. Wolverton, who was city attorney of Portland in 1892, and in the contest for city attorney in 1895 ran 22,000 ahead of his ticket. In 1896 he was the Democratic candidate for attorney general of Illinois on the ticket with Altgeld and in 1897 was a candidate for circuit judge on the nonpartisan Democratic ticket in Cook county. He was born in Lockport, N. Y., and is a graduate of Colby College.

AMERICAN TROOPS LAND.

London, June 7. A despatch to the Financial News from Cape Haytien dated Monday says:

"At daybreak this morning the American troops landed at Aguadores, a few miles east of Santiago de Cuba, under cover of Admiral Sampson's guns. The batteries were first silenced after a sharp bombardment."

MRS. GRIDLEY DESIRES HUSBAND'S BODY CREMATED.

Washington, June 6. A private despatch from Mrs. Gridley, widow of the late commander of the cruiser Olympia, was brought to the department today by Mr. Harry H. Smith, a friend of the family. He stated that the remains of Lieutenant Commander Gridley are at Tokoloro, and that she wishes to have the remains cremated and sent to Indianapolis. The department will do everything possible to comply with the desire of Mrs. Gridley.

Pain-Killer

Two big locomotives for the Washington County Railroad went through this city yesterday afternoon. They were 10 wheelers and were the specimens of modern workmanship. They were numbered 6 and 7.

Judge Nathan Webb, U. S. District Court Attorney J. W. Dyer, Clerk A. H. Davis and Deputy Marshal Burton Smith arrived in the city last evening and are at the Bangor House. The June term of the United States court opens today.

The old and interesting game of dumping silver dollars on to Main street between West Market square and Union street is again in process. There are two processes to be gone through on the gravel, the other hurling off the mud for the next month or so. Permanent improvement is what is needed.

Our Monday afternoon the funeral of Levi Whedden was held from the residence of his daughter on Dillingham street. Rev. E. L. Pember of the Universalist church officiated and the Apollo quartet sang. The pall bearers were David Bugbee, Horace Smith, Thomas N. Snow and Irving Cowsbury. The burial was directed by Undertaker Hunt.

The Universalist State convention which is being held in Foxcroft this week will be attended by Dr. and Mrs. D. W. Maxfield, J. P. Grady, Miss R. A. Kingsbury, Miss Delmarl Ross, Mrs. Mary E. Read, Mrs. E. S. Hempson, Mrs. W. N. Sawyer, Miss Hutchings, Mrs. A. Adams and Miss Pote of Bangor.

Col. I. K. Stetson left on last night's train for New York on business concerning the schooner I. K. Stetson, which went ashore at Chatham but which was gotten back into deep water and has arrived at New York, where the cargo is being discharged.

THE DRIVES.

Our Winn correspondent writes: The lower drives out of the East and West Branches, having the logs of Con. Murphy, James McNally and others, went by Winn village on Saturday. There were some eighteen million feet of logs in the drives, employing from 80 to 100 men.

MAINE SYMPHONY CONCERTS.

The advance sale of tickets for the Maine Symphony concerts on Friday, June 10, opened on Monday morning at Auditorium with a large demand. The general sale will open this forenoon at Auditorium. The programs for the concert have been issued and they are very creditable to Mrs. W. R. Chapman, who edited them. They are arranged after the plan of the Boston symphony programs, with brief analyses of the concert numbers and notes about the State tour. The patron list is printed in the book, which is handsomely bound in red and contains 40 pages.

Ticket buyers should remember that Mrs. Charles E. Hamlin will review the program at Memorial Parlors today at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Hamlin will analyze the fifth symphony, the Vorspiel to the Meistersingers and the Danse Macabre. She will also give some interesting history in connection with these compositions and their authors. The Misses Wyman will play the allegro and andante movements from the fifth symphony, and Miss Louise Thompson will render the Vorspiel and the Danse Macabre. The lecture is open to all who have tickets to the concert, including the rehearsal chorus, on the payment of ten cents, additional to defray the expenses of hiring the Memorial Parlors. Mrs. Hamlin and the others who participate in the lecture contribute their services.

COULD NOT SLEEP.

Mrs. Pinkham Relieved Her of All Her Troubles.

Mrs. Maude Babcock, 170 Second St., Grand Rapids, Mich., had ovarian trouble with its attendant aches and pains, now she is well. Here is her own words:

"Your Vegetable Compound has made me feel like a new person. Before I began taking it I was all run down, fretted and sleepy most of the time, had pains in my back and side, and such terrible headaches all the time, and could not sleep well nights. I also had ovarian trouble. Through the advice of a friend I began the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and since taking it all troubles have gone. My monthly sickness used to be so painful, but have not had the slightest pain since taking your medicine. I cannot praise your Vegetable Compound too much." My husband and friends see such a change in me. I look so much better and have some color in my face."

Mrs. Pinkham invites women who are ill to write to her at Lynn, Mass., for advice, which is freely offered.

CELEBRATION OF THE FOURTH.

Executive Committee Appointed to Choose Sub-Committees.

On Monday evening a meeting of citizens was held in the Board of Trade rooms to discuss and take action regarding a celebration on the Fourth of July. Mr. Charles S. Pearl called the meeting to order. Mr. C. W. Coffin was chosen chairman and Mr. J. H. Boyd secretary.

A number of speeches were made in which there were suggestions as to the kind of celebration to have, one being that all organizations in the city be invited to participate in the parade and that dinner be served to them at the Auditorium. Boat races, firemen's tournament, etc., were also mentioned in this connection.

It was voted to have a celebration and the following executive committee was chosen to outline a program and appoint all the various sub-committees which might be needed: C. S. Pearl, C. W. Coffin, J. H. Boyd, J. P. Flanagan, E. T. Fernald, Meyer M. Levy and J. F. Crowley.

This committee will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock to perform the duties assigned to it and will report at a meeting of citizens to be held on Wednesday evening at the Board of Trade rooms.

U. OF M. LAW SCHOOL.

The University of Maine Law school will be opened on Oct. 5 in Exchange block, Bangor. At the request of the trustees five representative lawyers will act as an advisory board of control. They are Gov. Henry B. Cleaves, of Portland, Justice A. P. Wiswell and Justice W. H. Fogler, of the Supreme Court, Gen. Chas. Hamlin, reporter of decisions for the Supreme Court, and Hon. Herbert M. Heath, of Augusta. The faculty will include, beside the president, Prof. Geo. E. Gardner now professor of law in the University of Illinois, Prof. Alex. H. Rogers, Gen. Charles Hamlin and Justice L. A. Emery and A. P. Wiswell, of the Supreme Court.

The course will include two years in accordance with the requirements for admission to the bar. This period will probably be extended to three years by the next Legislature. The courses of study will then be correspondingly extended.

The only fees will be an annual tuition fee of $60 and a graduation fee of $10. Board and room will cost from $150 to $7.00 a week.

Prof. George E. Gardner, the new dean of the school of law, is a native of Massachusetts and a graduate of Amherst college in the class of 1884. He studied law in Illinois and in the office of Col. W. R. Hopkins.

There is now on deposit in a city bank $.18 left from the last Bangor celebration.

Mr. Lemuel Nichols has opened the famous Grand Central bowling alleys on Central street and they will undoubtedly become a popular resort at times. They are finely equipped in every way.

The daily steamer service on the line of the Boston and Bangor Steamship Co. will go into effect on June 24.

A party of about 45 Bangor Masons went to Oldtown last evening to assist in working the third degree with the Oldtown lodge. They went up on the early evening train and returned on the 11.10 train. The visit was much enjoyed.

READY TO OPPOSE INVADERS.

London, June 7. The Madrid correspondent of the Standard says:

"Gen. Blanco, Admiral Cervera and Gen. Linares have sent interesting telegrams to the government detailing the preparations being actively made to repel the invasion that is considered imminent.

"They report that the crews, the garrison, the volunteers and the civilians are in high spirits, elated by the repulse of the first reconnoitering attempt by the enemy. Only 1 Spanish and 3 American vessels are in sight of Santiago, and it is believed that the other four have been detached toward Guantanamo, where the Spanish and forces are in readiness, as they are also on both sides of Santiago, to oppose the landing of an American expedition or the division expected from Caimanera and the head of seven thousand insurgents.

"Gens. Blanco and Linares consider that they have enough men to face both the insurgents and the invaders. While Admiral Cervera will assist the land batteries and hold Admiral Sampson and Commodore Schley in check. Gen. Blanco reports that the blockade of Havana has been so relaxed ever since the American fleets were concentrated near Santiago that he has been able to send reinforcements, war stores and provisions to many parts of the coast, while merchant vessels are entering and leaving Havana and other ports quite easily. He also entertains that the home rule government, the Insular parliament and the autonomist authorities are now a regular working order with the support of all loyal parties, while he says he receives the singularly inactive and partisan Weyler, and supplies coming to the rebellious waters on the coast by the Spanish warships."

CANNONADE AT AGUADORES.

(Copyrighted by the Associated Press.)

Cape Haytien, June 6. 10.30 A. M. The cannonade at Aguadores began at 7.30 A. M. this morning. It became stronger at 7.55, both sides seeming to put forth every possible effort. It grew more violent and at 8.45 A. M. was still in progress.

ANNUAL TOURNAMENT BEGINS.

Waterville, Me., June 6. The annual tournament of the Maine Intercollegiate Association began here today, upon the courts of the Colby Athletic Association. The first day's play resulted as follows: White and Dana (200) of Bowdoin beat Stevens and Lawrence of Colby, 6-0, 6-3, 6-2; Mallett (Colby) beat Dunn, Bowdoin, 6-1, 6-2; Stimpson of Colby beat Dunn, Bowdoin, 6-1, 6-2.

A 20 HOUND DRAW.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 6. Martin Flaherty of Fayette, Adams and Billy O'Donnell, of Memphis, Tenn., 20 rounds, drew tonight. O'Donnell had the better of it the first four rounds. Flaherty had the upper hand with the gloves.

NOT FOR CUBAN, BUT FOR SAN DOMINGO REVOLUTIONISTS.

New York, Fla., June 6. The steamer Florida, which sailed from Mobile May 24th, is a suspicious character, according to her destination, arrived here this afternoon. She was fully loaded apparently. Her captain and crew refused to make any statement. It was learned later that the Florida had taken a cargo of arms and ammunition, with several tons of dynamite from Mobile and had been for two weeks or more mustering expedition on.

From Tampa the Florida was ordered to Mobile, ostensibly for some an expedition to Cuba under the charge of Gen. Jiminez and Morillo, Dominicans, but acting Cuban sympathizers.

At Great Inagua the expedition was joined by Christ Roberts, an expert pilot. The Florida's captain was ordered to steer for Hayti, it being unsafe to land in Cuba.

At Cape Haytien Gen. Jiminez went ashore, returning with ten men who, he told the captain, were laborers engaged to unload the cargo at Cuba. He desired to touch at Mount Cristo, San Domingo.

On landing another crew the captain was surprised to see Gen. Jiminez come on board in uniform and fully armed, followed by Gen. Morillo and he other two officers similarly equipped. They shipped 37 men and two cases of ammunition put aboard the long boat and the men commandeered the laborers to take their seats in the boat. The captain understood that something was wrong.

The boat was rowed ashore by three sailors and the second mate.

No sooner had they reached the wharf than Gen. Jiminez and his party landed, when a volley of musketry was heard and three of the party fell wounded.

Troops were seen advancing in large numbers and the little band of 14 was soon cut down to five.

The sailors shoved off from the wharf and a volley of bullets from the fort got in their range, but the Florida got by safely and none of the crew were injured. The Florida headed for shore where she finished Jiminez and Roberts on Friday and then returned home without doing work her entire cargo.

The complete evidence was imposed upon and knew nothing of the true character of the expedition.

TUESDAY, JUNE 7, 1898.

A Republican State Convention

WILL BE HELD IN

CITY HALL, AUGUSTA,

Tuesday, June 28th, 1898,

AT 10 O'CLOCK A. M.

for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Governor to be supported at the September election, and transacting any other business that may properly come before it.

The voters of Maine, without regard to past political differences, who are in favor of sustaining President McKinley and his administration in the conduct of the war with Spain, who are in favor of sustaining the present wise and economical administration of our State affairs, are cordially invited to join with the Republicans in choosing delegates to this convention.

The basis of representation will be as follows: Each city, town and plantation will be entitled to one delegate, and for each 75 votes cast for the Republican candidate for Governor in 1896, an additional delegate, for a fraction of 40 votes in excess of 75 votes, a further additional delegate. Vacancies in the delegation of any city, town or plantation can only be filled by a resident of the county, in which the vacancy exists.

The State committee will be in session in the city council rooms of City Hall at 9 o'clock on the morning of the convention, for the purpose of receiving the credentials of delegates. Delegates, in order to be eligible to participate in the convention, must be elected subsequent to the date of the call of this convention.

Per order Republican State Convention.

Fourth Congressional District, Republican Convention.

The Republican Convention of the Fourth Congressional District will be held in City Hall, Bangor, Maine, Monday, June 27, 1898, at three o'clock in the afternoon for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Congress, and transacting any other business that may properly come before said Convention. The basis of representation will be as follows: Each city, town and plantation will be entitled to one delegate, and for each seventy-five votes cast for the Republican candidate for Governor in 1896, an additional delegate, and for a fraction of forty votes in excess of seventy-five votes, a further additional delegate. Vacancies in the delegation of any city, town or plantation can only be filled by a resident of the county in which the vacancy exists. Delegates in order to be eligible to participate in the convention, must be elected subsequent to the date of the call of this convention.

The district committee will be in session in the Common Council Room, in said City Hall, at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon of the Convention, for the purpose of receiving the credentials of delegates.

Republican County Convention.

The Republicans of the County of Penobscot are notified to meet by delegates in convention at City Hall, Bangor, on WEDNESDAY, the 29th of June, 1898, at 10 o'clock A. M., to nominate three candidates for Senators, a candidate for Sheriff, for Clerk of Courts, County Attorney, County Treasurer, Register of Deeds, Register of Probate and one candidate for County Commissioner, to be supported at the September election.

BASIS OF REPRESENTATION.

Each city, town and plantation one delegate for every fifty votes cast for the Republican candidate for governor in 1896, one additional delegate for a fraction of 25 votes in excess of the first 50 votes, one additional delegate. Each town and plantation that cast 25 votes as aforesaid, and less than 50, two delegates.

All delegates must be residents of the town they represent. Delegates in order to be eligible to participate in this convention must be elected subsequent to the date of the call for this convention.

The County Committee will be in session at the committee room, City Hall, at 9 o'clock A. M. on the day of the convention to receive credentials.

Per order, Republican County Committee.

Know What They Are About.

While reports and counter reports continue to find their way into print, as is inevitable under the conditions of this war, it is confidently believed that news of a very decisive character will soon be received from the fleet off Santiago. It must be remembered that while the country was impatiently awaiting news concerning the Cape Verde fleet and some criticism was passed upon the failure of the American ships to find the enemy, the naval commanders knew exactly what they were about and calmly bagged the game even while the fault-finders were telling how the thing might be done. The same commanders are today fully alive to the situation, and when the right time comes will strike a blow that will go a long way toward ending this war. Some of the newspapers are a good deal like the Spaniards—they are given to fighting paper battles. The men who are doing the real fighting, however, are the ones who are going to settle the question, and they are entirely worthy of the responsibility resting upon them. War cannot be decided and fought to a successful issue in a week's time.

Gallant Defenders.

While the country is deservedly according high praise to the gallant naval officer and the men who took their lives in their hands to effectually close up Santiago harbor, it should not be forgotten that these men were not seized in hundreds who, unless they had volunteered, their services. The difficulty encountered by Admiral Sampson was not in securing the necessary number of men for the daring undertaking, but in choosing from the men who had once entered the lists when the call was made for volunteers. Lieut. Hobson and his command have achieved undying fame by a manifestation of heroism never excelled in naval warfare, but it must also be remembered that these gallant men are a type of the material of which the American navy is composed. As long as the American ships are fought by such men no one can doubt that the honor of the country and the protection of the flag are in safe hands.

The Fourth District.

(Machias Republican.)

The time is near at hand when the representatives of the Republicans of the Fourth Congressional District will be called upon to meet in convention and nominate a candidate for Representative to Congress. Hon. C. A. Boutelle, who has so long and ably served the people of this district, will no doubt be nominated and elected to further serve his constituents. If there is a time of more importance than another that the ablest, most conscientious and fearless men are needed in the halls of Congress, that time is the present. Mr. Boutelle has proved himself to be one of the strong men of the nation, and a large majority of the people of the Fourth district desire to return him to Congress for another term, and this they will do.

In Conference.

Soon after the House met Monday the war revenue bill was reported with the Senate amendments. The House promptly voted to non-concur in the amendments and the measure now goes to a conference committee, where it will receive its final touches. The chief contention will continue on the amendment offered by Senator Lodge providing for the coinage of the seigniorage. The House, it is believed, will insist on filling this form of indemnity, and will of course have the co-operation of the Administration. In opposing the seigniorage amendment the House bill will also have the support of the solid business sentiment of the country. It is not expected that the bill will be long delayed in the committee, the necessity for immediate action being so pronounced that every effort will be made to get the measure to the President in an acceptable form at the earliest possible moment.

Have Reached the Limit.

One of the gratifying features of the war, is to be found in the fact that the people have caught on to the little game of the yellow owners of yellow journals. When the idea came with Spain originated two papers in New York that have been fighting each other for some time, to determine the survival of the fittest, let themselves loose in the congenial work of gathering and distributing sensational rot. Truth and decency have been entirely eliminated from their programme. They started in to gull the public with extra war editions and have worked the bunco game for all it was worth. Each was able to recognize the character of the work of the other and each has rightly named the other a "liar."

But at last the people have had their eyes opened to the kind of "news" these papers have been serving up in their numerous editions every day. They have discovered that it has been very largely "faked" in the home office, and as a result the "stories" set forth in job type have nearly all been contradicted within twenty-four hours. As President Lincoln said, "you cannot fool all the people all of the time." These papers have succeeded longer than one would suppose it was possible, but now their sales are dropping off. No one pays any attention to them, even if they continue to read them. The editorial efforts of the Administration, the army and navy, simply serve to accentuate the contempt of the people for these newspaper ghouls.

A new plan that will augment the benefits received by riders from membership in the L. A. W. has been perfected and is being put into execution by Chairman R. L. Stillson of the hotel committee. It consists of instituting official League restaurants here in the city and elsewhere, in addition to League hotels. Already several local restaurants have been placed under contract to give to customers who show League tickets 10 per cent. discount. All the old contracts were nullified last month, and the work of making new ones was begun. This course was found necessary because of the number of hotels that were fraudulently represented by their owners to be official League hostelries, but which made the same prices to riders whether League members or not. An exclusive sign has been adopted and members can be assured that any place where the sign is not displayed has not received the official appointment. The sign is of tin, with the L. A. W. emblem in the centre and the words "Official Hotel" (or restaurant) showing in black and white. The new contract requires hotel and restaurant keepers to pay $5 for the official appointment, with the stipulation that the name and address will be printed in the road and guide books published by the League. The sign is simply loaned and a $5 deposit for it collected, which is returned whenever the League discontinues the official recognition of any establishment and takes away the sign. No hotel or restaurant is recognized until an investigation has been made by two local consuls or members. In the case of rival establishments of the same class being near each other only one is recognized, but were in the same vicinity there is a city hotel and expensive place, and another of popular character, both can receive official sanction. The idea of branching out and making contracts with restaurants in the business section of the city is one that should greatly aid the League in its work of getting members. Ten per cent. does not amount to much on an ordinary business lunch, but the luncheons of any car (discounted 10 per cent) means an amount far in excess of the cost of membership in the League, and should be an inducement for thousands to join.

PRESS.

Washington, June 6. Navy officers show their hands in negation this morning of the stories that are being circulated to the effect that troops had been landed in force at Santiago. They were so confident that the reports were premature as from their knowledge of the movements of the transports at Tampa and Mobile it would not be possible for the troop ships to have arrived by this time on the south coast of Cuba. The Resolute, reported yesterday as having been at Nicholas Mole, Hayti, for a brief space of time, is not a troop ship in the strict sense of the term. She is a marine transport and has on board 800 marines, taken to Key West on the Panther. After lying in the harbor for several weeks suffering from close confinement on board ship, the marines were landed and went into camp at Tampa where they were thoroughly drilled. The Resolute picked them up about a week ago and started for Admiral Sampson's fleet but were intended to constitute a landing force to support the fleet in an attack upon any fortified point where it was decided to capture and occupy.

Now that the plan of campaign against Santiago is understood to contemplate co-operation between the fleet under Sampson and United States troops under Gen. Shafter, it is believed that to prevent confusion in the direction of the forces ashore, the marine detachment commanded by Lieut. Col. Huntington, will be placed under the orders of Gen. Shafter to act as part of the regular army for the time being.

The cable cutting ship sent down by the signal corps to Santiago to cut the cables connecting Cuba with the outside world, has not yet completed that work, for Gen. Greeley, who is directly in charge of its work had to the yesterday that the cable landing from Guantanamo to Hayti was still in operation.

It is probable that one of the local cables running along the Cuban coast was cut under the impression that it was the main line. It is believed, however, that this last link that remains to connect Madrid and Havana will not exist more than a day or two longer. It is supposed that under the guise of a commercial message sent via Key West, the report reached Madrid of the arrival yesterday at Havana of the ship Arabia loaded with cattle.

The war department has responded to the navy department the list of names received from the commandant at Fort McPherson, Ga., of the Spanish prisoners of war there. The department this morning sent this list to Admiral Sampson and the Admiral himself will enter into communication with Admiral Cervera respecting an exchange of prisoners. Cervera will be allowed to select from the list the persons whom he is willing to receive in exchange for Constructor Hobson and the gallant crew that manned the Merrimac on her last trip.

When Sampson and Cervera have arranged the details, the list of prisoners to be exchanged will be submitted to the war department, which will direct the commandant at Fort McPherson to send them to Key West to be placed aboard a naval vessel and sent to Santiago for transfer. All this will take time, and the officials hardly expect to complete the exchange in less than two weeks at the earliest. The commandant at Fort McPherson reported to the war department this morning in answer to an inquiry that all the Spanish prisoners were well.

has gone back to New York to join his ship, the St. Paul. While in Washington he spent a good deal of time before the naval war board and it is supposed that the members of the latter were filling themselves of the extensive knowledge of the topography of Havana harbor and of the character of the defenses there, possessed by Capt. Sigsbee. The friends of Capt. Sigsbee are somewhat chagrined over the discovery that without any intention of doing him an injustice he has been "juiped" in his standing in the navy that by his promotion in consequence of the President's recommendation that the commander of the American warship of the battle of Manila be rewarded several numbers. It is possible this will be remedied by detaching Capt. Sigsbee himself in the list of officers to be advanced in recognition of the splendid manner in which he acquitted himself after the blowing up of the Maine.

The war department officials are moving heaven and earth to improve the condition at Tampa and vicinity.

Gen. Miles has made some pretty sharp reports to the department criticising the conditions there, and every effort is being made to improve them. The general represented among other matters a complaint that railroad cars were sidetracked for a distance of ten miles from Tampa, making it impossible to get at the supplies that are absolutely essential to the embarkation of troops for Cuba.

OFFICIAL BULLETIN.

The navy department at 2 o'clock posted the following bulletin:

"Admiral Dewey reports that the insurgents have been actively engaged within the province of Cavite during the past week. They have won several skirmishes, taken prisoners about 1,500 men, 60 officers of the Spanish troops and natives. The arsenal of Cavite has been prepared for occupation by the United States troops upon their arrival on transports.

"Admiral Sampson is engaged in arranging with Admiral Cervera for the exchange of Naval Constructor Hobson and the party with him. Low presents at Santiago, for some of the officers and men, held prisoners by the United States at Fort McPherson.

Mrs. Charles Miller of this city is visiting friends at Green Lake.

Work in excavating for the foundation of the new block to be erected by George Glover at the corner of Centre street and Penobscot square was begun Monday. A building at this point will greatly improve the looks of the square, as the old vacant lot has been an eye-sore to the public. Contractor A. J. Kenney will build the structure.

Mr. Charles D. Snow is fitting up an ice cream parlor in his store on Main street.

Now that the city government has voted to have a new fire light placed on Parker street, near the engine house the Public Works Co. will doubtless see that it is put in position at once.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hichock of New Bedford, Mass., were in this city Monday on their way to Bar Harbor, where they will open their summer cottage "Happy Go Lucky," for the summer. Mr. Hichock, who is one of New Bedford's leading business men, has visited many parts of the country, but he prefers Bar Harbor as a resort to any he has thus far seen.

The residence of Mr. Frank Rogers on Centre street narrowly escaped destruction by fire Monday afternoon, when two little boys lighting at that place kindled a fire of dried grass lying by the side of the house. The flames were discovered creeping up the side of the building by a man passing by. He ran to the place and put the fire out. A moment more and it would have been too late.

HAWAII AND UNITED STATES.

Something More Than Occupation of the Islands for Strategic Purposes is Hoped For.

(From the Honolulu Pacific Commercial Advertiser.)

There seems to be an opinion held here by some people that Hawaii only is to be benefited by annexation, and therefore it is good politics to tender to the United States the use of the islands during the existing war.

The question in America is, however, not what may be good for Hawaii, but what is best for the United States. That involves a question of cool and sound judgment and the American statesmen will settle it. There is nothing for us now to do but to remain passive, and do whatever needs to be done as the occasion demands.

As a matter of international law, Hawaii unfortunately, still remains an independent and sovereign State. She has been laid as a gift at the feet of the American government, and the acceptance of that gift has been fervently prayed. But that government, as a whole, hesitates to accept the gift or recognize the strategic value of it. As a nation, it can open its thumb and forefinger and pick up the gift at a moment's notice. It permits the independent sovereignty of the islands to continue.

Our neutrality is entirely in the hands of that nation. It may terminate it whenever it chooses to do so. As a nation, it will act in the matter, not for the benefit of Hawaii, but for the benefit of its own people.

INSTINCT.

Taste is Frequently a Valuable Guide in Selecting Food.

A little child's taste is often a reliable guide to palatable and desirable food, and it is worth one's while to observe how the little folks take to Grape-Nuts the famous new food.

They eat it freely without add-ition of sugar, for it has the peculiar, mild but satisfying sweet of grape sugar and the natural taste either of child or adult recognizes at once a food that will agree with and richly nourish the system.

They are generally unable to explain why, but it does seem to tell the unerring truth when Grape-Nuts are tasted, and as few days use will show strength and health as the result of food that not only has the delicious flavor, but is made of those parts of the food supply furnished by the Creator, that tend to easy absorption by the system.

HAVANA.

Spaniards Will Attempt to Strike America a Decisive Blow—Preparations for the Struggle.

(Copyright 1898 by Associated Press.)

Havana, May 24, via Vera Cruz, Mexico, May 30. The news of the arrival at Santiago de Cuba of what is known here as the first division of the Spanish fleet has considerably lightened the hearts of the Spaniards and the news has been received with great rejoicing. The feeling of satisfaction is all the more intense as it is hoped the Spanish warships will soon enter the harbor of Havana, after which, acting with the second division of the fleet, Admiral Camara. It is believed the naval forces of Spain will attempt to strike a decisive blow at some part of the United States. At least this is the view of the situation taken by the Spanish authorities here.

Havana and the rest of the island of Cuba, so far as I can learn, is officially pronounced to be perfectly quiet. No more or other disturbances are reported to have occurred and the inhabitants profess themselves to be longing for an encounter with the forces of the United States. Preparations for defence are being pushed night and day, the work is going on without ceasing on the fortifications all over the island.

100,000 MEN TO TAKE HAVANA.

The Spanish officials here claim that at 30,000 men are needed to attack Havana by land and sea when the war broke out, at least 100,000 men will be required to attack the Cuban capital now in view of the new and strengthened fortifications and also because the so-called "cultivation zone" has been extended to Bejucal, Calabazar, Jucal, etc., which are inside of the line of defence now, thus it is claimed, making Havana as Spanish Sebastopol. This increase in the cultivated area about Havana will, it is asserted, support the inhabitants with food, although not with luxuries, for a long time to come.

In spite of this outwardly cheerful aspect of affairs, bitterly anxious feelings exist. People talk freely as to charge Senor Moret, the former minister of the colonies of Spain, of being a traitor and of having "sold Cuba to the United States."

This continues disquiet to prevail, and if the Spanish fleet does not arrive here before food becomes really scarce, the horrible rioting may be repeated.

BUSINESS INACTIVITY.

There are hardly any business transactions and the city looks lonesome as there are few people on the streets. The families remain at home except when the sound of a gun fired from one of the forts causes the people to rush to the windows or into the streets and if several shots are fired thousands rush to the wharves, to the vicinity of the bay and to San Lazaro avenue to see if the American fleet is approaching.

Although the streets are almost deserted certain points of vantage are occupied by groups of people from early morning until late at night. This is particularly the case with La Punta, which is generally crowded with all kinds of people from daybreak until dark.

The Spaniards comment continually upon the tactics of the American fleet, and naturally, they draw very serious in their criticisms, for they do not understand the method of warfare adopted.

LAUGH AT AMERICAN DELAY.

Many of them go so far as to say the United States is not prepared for war, that no plans have been decided upon and that the authorities at Washington are not serious in the steps taken.

Then again the Spaniards are jeoring at the reported small amount of damage done by the American bombardments and they also pretend to be sorry over the seeming delay which they claim is giving Spain the opportunity to prepare to make a more vigorous defence than she should have otherwise done. The Spanish military and naval authorities are beginning to parade themselves with the belief that the naval and military power of the United States has been overrated by the newspapers and they are applauding themselves with the idea that Spain is showing herself able to fight due to a great as the United States. This makes all classes of Spaniards here more war-like and more enthusiastic in making sacrifices in the work of defence which, under circumstances, would not have been the case.

Advices from Cienfuegos and other towns show that a scarcity of provisions exists and Puerto Principe reports that many families have left that city for the country districts.

No encounters between the Spanish troops and the insurgents have recently been announced and the official reports only refer to insignificant skirmishes, in which the Spaniards, of course, have had the advantage.

RAILROAD COMMUNICATION.

Railroad communication between the provinces of Santa Clara and the provinces of Matanzas and Havana has been interrupted several times and the trains are sometimes 24 hours late on account of the blowing up of bridges by the insurgents. The damage, however, was soon repaired. This has happened even in the province of Havana. Twice within the last ten days bridges have been destroyed with derailment in one case near Minas, six miles from Havana, and in the other near Guines. It is maintained, however, that there is no real interruption of railroad traffic, the telegraph lines are working well and the insurgents in this province are not giving any signs of life. In fact, there is a belief that the city of Havana would be fully prepared against any surprise on the part of the insurgents, in view of the concentration of the Spanish troops in the coast towns, can at be accounted for, only on Spanish commanders. Another matter which the Spaniards are freely discussing is the allegation that very many of the American shells do not explode, and it is claimed that very little damage has been done by those which do explode. On this assumption the Spanish officers are poking fun at the other gunners, calling them "know-how" about the handling of cannon.

CONFIDENT OF THEMSELVES.

The main point of interest there at present is as to when and where the American troops will effect a landing in Cuba, though the Spaniards pronounce themselves confident of being able to repel any invasion.

Eggs, currently, forty cents are become more scarce and the prices of all articles of food are doubling, though very many families have left Havana and large numbers of houses are to let. Everybody seems to be trying to reduce expenses, giving up their houses or apartments and moving into single rooms. To a certain extent this has been carried on that now you often find twelve people in a single room. In spite of this, the rents of houses have increased especially in the case of smaller houses. Nearly all the houses about the bay and seashore, from La Punta to San Lazaro, and the suburbs of Vedado and Cerro are unoccupied, their inhabitants having moved to the Cerro, Jesus del Monte and to the outskirts of the city, people in fear of the bombardments of Havana by the American fleet.

On the other hand, many families from Marianao are coming to Havana owing to the withdrawal of the garrison from that place and the extension of the cultivation zone.

At Cienfuegos, in the coal mine has been discovered. Arts in it immediately worked as well as the coal mines of Chinap to at Mariel the Calibarien for naval purposes.

There is still considerable coal in Havana.

In spite of the regulations in force for military governor finds it impossible to govern the price of provisions, the prevent people charging double prices for everything owing to the scarcity of money. It contains being worth $5 silver today. The army and the laboring people are paid in silver.

The ranks of unemployed increases every day. Thousands of laborers are without employment. The commercial houses, of doing any business have been compelled to reduce wages fifty per cent in gold and many of them are not paying any wages at all, but are giving clerks food to eat in their temporary as the price of their labor, which has led to many abuses.

ENTHUSIASTIC VOLUNTEERS.

The enthusiasm of the volunteers is highly commended. They are doing work day and night, not only without pay but supporting themselves in the barracks. Thousands of additional volunteers are said to have been enrolled in different parts of the island and the Spaniards say they could get as many more if they had arms to distribute to them. As the stores of arms belonging to the government have been exhausted.

The former insurgent leader Masso is busily engaged in completing the formation of the fourth battalion of his brigade of volunteers. They are nearly all negroes. The initiations of negroes are also being carried here.

In spite of the fact that the volunteers drill every night in the public square.

There has been a common belief over the allegation that when the German warship Cristobal Colon passed through the Dardanelles Fete the flag for salute the American fleet and the latter did not salute her, forming a contrast with the manner in which salutes were exchanged between the British and French warships and the American fleet. From this, the Spaniards claim, it is clear that a cold feeling prevails between the United States and Germany.

AN ENGLISH NURSE SENT HOME.

The Spanish officials have discovered in the house of the English nurse, Sister Mary, who attended the sick and wounded survivors of the United States battleship Maine in the hospital, a considerable quantity of American canned provisions. Because, it is alleged, she did not notify the authorities of the existence of these provisions, Sister Mary has been ordered by the military governor to leave Havana for England.

Sister Mary it appears has also offended the Spanish authorities in presenting herself at the palace in order to befriend if possible, two American newspaper correspondents who were recently in custody there. But she was unable to see Captain General Blanco or any other person in authority and was informed by an adjutant of Gen. Solano that the prisoners were well cared for and that there was no necessity for her to trouble herself about them. Finally she was requested not to take steps in future to interfere in such matters.

Their official news has been received here from the provinces of Santiago de Cuba and Puerto Principe, but it is known that all the efforts of the colonial government to prevent news of the insurgents coming to terms have failed, as everybody expected.

ONE OUNCE LOAVES OF BREAD.

The military government will issue today another edict referring to the prices of provisions and reducing the size of the loaf of bread. Bread has already been so much reduced by the bakers that a loaf of bread now weighs less than one ounce. It is also reported that the military governor will issue an order prohibiting selling provisions outside the city of Havana, in which case Havana will have provisions for a long time to come.

The Autonomists are daily giving more proof of their utter inability to govern the island. They seem to have no idea of administration and as a result Capt. Gen. Blanco is compelled to do almost all that work for him. Autonomy therefore is nothing more than a mockery.

There are continual dissensions between the so-called historical Autonomists and the radical Autonomists, which, had the insurrection been subdued would undoubtedly have caused another civil war.

The suspension of work upon the part of the tobacco manufacturers which has thrown 12,000 laborers out of employment is depriving the inhabitants here of the enjoyment of the best grades of the weed and the tobacco now retailed is so bad that the people can hardly smoke it, if formerly accustomed to fine Havanas.

THE WHEEL AND WHEELMEN.

"Old hands know it well," says a cyclist, "but perhaps few novices are aware that any natural deviation from the direct line of the leg is increased by cycling. Bandy-legged persons become more bandy-legged and bow-legs are made more circular. The cause is obvious. A straight-limbed man gives a direct thrust, but his less fortunate companion is exerting a double side thrust with his knees as they pivot. To say that cycling reforms a straight-limbed man is absurd."

The inventive mind has succeeded in placing many excellent bicycle in miniature lounging carriages on the market.

Hiram Maxim, the inventor, said recently: "If a clever mechanic, with all tools or materials but those which were available 100 years ago, were lately to make a bicycle, he would spend six months on it, and the product would be so costly that potentially no market could be found for it. But a clever workman, under a good workman, can turn out 100 bicycles a year, and they are so cheap in consequence that almost everybody can and does purchase them."

New Jersey in her recent legislation has recognized the need of wide wagon tire laws as a phase point in the preservation of good roadways.

Assistant Secretary Hammond of the National Board of Trade reports that manufacturers find the times very dull. The export business is the most prosperous and is growing. American makers are spending more money in advertising in the foreign trade papers than is bestowed here. All are cultivating English and European trade. That they are making headway is evidenced by the fact that last week American shipped more bicycles to England than the total exports of that country amounts to. In the same week the exports of American bicycles to all countries, largely because of the increased exportation of American wheels to England, reached $1,000,000 during the year ending May 1, 1898. Secretary Wardman of the Board of Trade is now in Wisconsin and will continue to travel in the West for a fortnight. He got in a few days work fourteen new members for the board.

A greater inducement for cyclists to attend church then has yet appeared in this country is now being offered by St. Timothy's Church, Marylebone, England. Wheels are checked at the door for a penny and the announcement has been made from the pulpit that riders can get breakfast at the rectory for three pence.

A Western report on the conditions of the retail bicycle trade states that a great deal among buyers has set in and that strictly high grade wheels are now so largely in demand that those holding stocks of very cheap and poorly made cycles are facing bankruptcy. It is said that the change of sentiment in favor of the best goods is felt even more strongly in relation to tires than wheels. Local dealers say they have not noticed any pronounced reaction in favor of top grade wheels in this vicinity, although there is perhaps some shift of the idea progressing in the public mind. Regarding tires, the change in the demand is probably because poor ones will cause a bicycle and begin to bother riders more quickly than good workmanship in the frame and other parts. Dealers do not hesitate to expose to riders having poor tires the fact that they are inferior whenever the opportunity is received. In fact, one reason for so many riders using tires pumped hard as a rock is because dealers like to show up poor tires as hard as possible and inferior cycles to ride with them. Contrary to expectation, hard tires are not so comfortable to those having just a little give to them, but the point is that while good tires will stand being pumped up hard poor ones will not. They have got to rest during the process; but even if they do not, they will not last as long if kept under great pressure. This trade trick has its reprehensible phase, but it may be considered to have also an educational value to riders, in teaching them something about the quality of tires. The majority of riders do not realize how vital a part of their bicycles are the tires. A philosophic tradesman says:

"Wheelmen need something to wake them up and make them realize the wisdom of buying a new pair occasionally. I do not approve of trying to make my mark short-lived by the tactics that some employ, but I have had many a man thank me for talking him into buying new tires for his last season's wheel. A pair of tires that have been kept blown up for a year become as rotten as rubber bands that have been stretched around a bundle of papers for a season. The rubber has deteriorated so as to be almost useless, and the bands fall apart when you attempt to remove them. After a pair of tires have been stretched for twelve months and pounded over the roads, the life has gone out of them, and you haven't anything much left for them to sensibly bundle of rags. The fabric holds and you have the semblance of a tire, but after a rider puts on a new pair he realizes how dead the old ones were. The price of a pair of tires on an old wheel seems little enough for one to pay for the season's riding, but the number who stick to their old ones until they fall apart and keep paying repair money is astonishing."

Arthur A. Zimmerman, the bicycle st, who is sick at his father's hotel at Manhasset, is gaining strength steadily. He is still very feeble and not yet out of danger. No one is permitted to see him.

The United States Board of General Appraisers, in overruling a protest, decided that bicycles cannot be considered as personal effects in the sense that wearing apparel is, and a bicycle is not necessarily. The protest was made by Dean Mine of Buffalo, who contended that he should not have been compelled to pay duty upon a bicycle brought into this country by him by way of the Suspension Bridge at Niagara Falls, August, 1897, on the ground that the wheel was old and had been used by him, and was personal property. The Board of General Appraisers found that Mine had purchased the bicycle in Hamilton, Canada, and that it was brought into this country by express several days after the arrival of the owner.

A Dorcy bicycle is announced by a Toledo maker of cycle sundries, to be a Toddy Tricycle, the member of the Century Club of New York, who has ridden about 100 miles daily for 365 consecutive days, has in the opinion of some of the most expert road riders, displayed great determination and grit in his undertaking up to date. Edwards has completed 153 century runs and claims to be in excellent health, an indication that his rides have not proved at all hurtful. On Monday last Edwards, who was riding around the environs of Boston, had an shed seventy-two miles on the road of his daily century, when he visited the race track at the Charles River Park and rode a mile, covered in 2 minutes and 30 seconds. Edwards finds the roads in Massachusetts to be in excellent condition for this season of the year, and expects to spend several weeks longer in that territory.

An interesting question has raised by the experience of a rider in New York city concerning the liability of a storekeeper for a wheel stolen from the bicycle rack in front of his premises. The rider stopped at a confectionery store on Eighth avenue at 8:30 o'clock at night, and accepting the silent invitation of the bicycle rack that stood in front, put his wheel in it and entered the store. The proprietor was asked to kindly keep an eye on the wheel. In spite of this precaution the wheel was stolen, and the rider is trying to ascertain whether he cannot hold the proprietor responsible. His argument is that the proprietor did not want to assume the risk he could have said "No," when asked to watch it, and, secondly, he thinks that the placing of a rack in front of store is an assumption of care, taking and responsibility. This is a nice point, and one that applies not only to stores on the avenues and boulevards but to hotels on the country roads all over the state, where a rider often stops for night and leaves his wheels in the rack belonging to the place. A similar case was tried in one of the lower courts by the attorney for the New York State Division, and the latter lost. According to the attorney, the difficulty is to prove that the proprietor explicitly accepted responsibility for the bicycle, that is, told the rider to leave it in the rack and that he would be responsible for it; secondly, to prove that after having done this he was guilty of gross negligence in allowing the machine to be stolen. Where there is no cycle rack with an attendant who issues checks the case is different for then it can be readily proven that the wheel has passed to the keeping of the place, and this establishes its responsibility. If money is received for checking the case is still stronger, and according to the division attorney, the plaintiff could recover in nine cases out of ten. It is the lawyer's opinion that when a man puts a bicycle rack in front of his shop it is parallel with putting up a hitching post, and that no responsibility is assumed unless it is done explicitly as explained. In the opinion of another lawyer, however, the bicycle rack does not class with the hitching post, and there is an implied acceptance of responsibility in the placing of one on the premises of a public house. The attorney for the State division says that it was the opinion of the plaintiff that lost his case; that his story on the stand was discredited by the court, and that had he taken what testimony the clerk would give he would not have brought the case to trial. This it appears that there is a possibility though a slight one, of recovering on a bicycle stolen under the conditions named. The burden of legal opinion is against it, however, and this tends to show that the wheel crime is for a wheelman to guard his own cycle or pay for say up it checked.

LIEUT. PEARY AND HIS EXPERIENCES.

Tells of His Last Voyage in His Book Just Issued—Mrs. Peary Heroine of Arctic Exploration.

Another of mankind's great books on Arctic adventure, ranking with Kane and Nansen, has been given to the world in "Northward Over the Great Ice," by Robert E. Peary, Civil Engineer, U. S. N., in two volumes, Frederick A. Stokes Company, New York. The book is richly embellished with illustrations that illustrate, mostly from photographs, with maps and diagrams. A number of the photographs are of Eskimos, displaying the conformation, and one observes that even said Greenland's icy mountains, after first trip Lieut. Peary "picture 'a' on mud and then she made the issues, D." "An Arctic Romance," vol. ii., ed. iii., is a diaphanous homesick of pleasantness. The creature needs at p. 3, same volume, "1542 in Greenland Experiments," has a face that would be a fortune to a burlesque actress; little "Knickerbocker," vol. iii., p. 501, is a joy forever. Scattered along the shores of the Arctic Sea and this people maintaining its existence in complete solution and independence, amidst the almost stress of savage environment. Without government, without religious notions, without money or any standard of value, without written language, without property except clothing, one weapons, their food nothing but meat, blood and blubber; without salt or any substance of vegetable origin; their clothing the skins of birds and animals; almost their only two objects in life, something to eat and something with which to clothe themselves, and their self-preservation the struggle for these objects with habits and conditions of life barely above the animal, these people seem at first to be very near the bottom of the scale of civilization; yet closer examination shows them to be quick, intelligent, ingenious and thoroughly human.

With our new surroundings and language, or weapons we depend for our support and for our daily wants, we have no complaints of their almost incredible destitution and prostration as to matters upon which we depend for everything on the strictest and most literal scale upon the few miles of Arctic coastline. "To them," writes Peary, "such an ordinary thing as a piece of wood was just as the natives in the moon to the petulant child that cries for it. It is to be wondered at that, under these circumstances, a man will sell his dog and sledge and all his furs for a bit of wood as long as himself, that a father offered me his wife and two children for a shining bottle, and that a woman offered me everything she had for a needle? They are a community of children in their simplicity, honesty and lack of all care for morrow in their surroundings, their food and their habits; of men in their utter disregard of cold, hunger and fatigue; of beings of high intelligence in the constant and full use of the faculties of the senses, and the concentration of every one of the few possibilities of the barren country which is their home upon the two great problems of their existence—something to eat and something to wear.

The effect of Peary's visits to Cape York families of Eskimos has been to raise the entire tribe to a condition of affluence. Seventy years ago many a man in this tribe possessed a knife and many a woman an needle. Few of the men possessed knives for sale purposes and few were well off who possessed a spear or harpoon shaft and a strange piece of wood. Today men and women are supplied with knives and needles, every adult man and half grown boy has his canoe, most of the men have guns, and every hunter is supplied with the best of wood for his lance, harpoon, dog sled, spear and his sledge. The effect of these improvements in their weapons has shown itself in the condition of the people, who are better clothed, can support a larger number of dogs (their only domestic animal), while, as a result of their more ample provisioning, and increased ability to withstand the hardships of life, the death rate has sensibly decreased and the birth rate has sensibly increased.

In the minds of the most fugitive readers of "Travels" one picture probably stands forth with peculiar distinctness. It is that of the tribe Victoria Nearer and upon his return two small children, the first Europeans, who ever looked upon the Eskimos, the Esquimaux Sequel Bailey, and his German wife. A companion picture will hence forth accompany that which one from the heart of Africa. "In Sept. 12," writes Peary, "an interesting event occurred at Anniversary Lodge in the arrival of a little tiny stranger, Marie Ahnighito Peary. Both mother and little one, as the result of the doctor's care and Mrs. Grinnell's skilled nursing, passed through the ordeal safely. This little blue-eyed snowflake, born at the close of the Arctic summer day, deep in the heart of the White North far beyond the furthest limits of civilized peopled habitations, saw the cold gray light of the Arctic autumn once before the great night set upon us. Then she was bundled up in soft, warm, Arctic furs, and wrapped in the Stars and Stripes.

"The first six months of her life were passed in continuous lamplight. When the earliest ray of the returning sun succeeded through the windows of our igloo she was rejoiced to see the golden hues on either cuddroon reset for a beautiful tableau, when the great night of the Arctic winter had given way to the bright day of the Arctic summer and she lived continuously in the uninterrupted field and brilliant Arctic sunshine, the effect upon her was the same as upon the hyacinth and tulip bulbs, which, kept for weeks in a dark cellar and then placed in a window, expand and blossom with astonishing rapidity. When at the end of eleven months little Ahnighito let the native land she was mentally and physically at least a year in advance of her normal age. Throughout the winter she was the source of the liveliest interest to the natives. Entire families travelled from far away Cape York to the south and from distant Itah to the north to satisfy themselves by actual sight that she was a creature of warm flesh and blood, and not of snow, as they at first believed."

I assessed of health, youth, energy and an enthusiastic interest in the world Mrs. Josephine Diebitsch Peary saw as reason why she could not endure exposure and environments similar to those in which Danish wives in Greenland passed years of their life. Peary concurred in this opinion and believed that in many ways her presence would contribute to the valuable results of the expedition and that had been unable to hire in the preparation. Events justified the concurrence, for we find that the wintering station was selected on her judgment (p. 77), next we have her at the tiller, steer, Arctic sledge through a gale of wind (p. 130); next she has decorated the winter dwelling with flags (p. 155); next we find her "hitting unfortunately, yet forbidden during Barlow's weather, opening, dressed and trembling amid icebergs, having been blinded and bewildered by the snow and sleep of the Arctic zephyrs (p. 220). At p. 300 we read that "Mrs. Peary was fortunate in shooting two more deer, and when at p. 402 they start a school of narwhal, she can execute a special with the boat upon those animals (Mrs. Peary who "pumped bullets into one of them"). Never in the Arctic voyage the art was the sex of the leader in the woman. She had jumped the traced out of her books with Shaw and a slender, unmusical dress of fifty, to be on duty, later to be for her duty to get the home. All of their preschool days were spent on land, and she developed upon her, since landed, to an entire moment to land, and for her husband and his companions the fellow no fear. She realized $400 from a lecture, various friends and societies subscribed something. At this juncture the president of the American Museum, Morris K. Jesup, in his private capacity, stepped in, and with unexampled generosity guaranteed the requisite funds." Mrs. Peary's brother, Emil Diebitsch, set aside his affairs to take command of the expedition. "Never was man more fortunate than I in his friends," writes Peary, enumerating among others Judge Daly of the Geographical Society, Chief Engineer Melville, U. S. N., and the Sun of New York which had first offered $1,000 for letters descriptive of the expedition and afterward doubled the amount. "So unreservedly have the slender fortunes of Mrs. Peary and myself (my expenses from lectures and letters to newspapers and magazines, receipts from transportation of scientific parties to Greenland, etc.) been devoted to the work in which I am interested, that I am today several thousand dollars in debt. I do not say this in a plaintive way, but as a simple statement of facts which it is only just should be known."

The Eskimo dog is nearly but not quite human. "Peary and overestimated his endurance on the ice cap. At sea level he supports the severest stress of weather. Eat on the cap the tough pel needs shelter. "Early on Friday morning, March 2, [1894] the wind began to subside," writes Peary, "and at 7 A. M. I was making up a scene thing inside my sleeping bag. Half my dogs were frozen in the snow, some by the legs, some by the tails, and some by both. Two were dead and all were in a most pitiable condition, their fur a mass of ice and snow driven into it by the alpha's wind." The instruments showed that for thirty-four hours the average wind velocity had been forty-eight miles per hour and the average temperature 50 deg. below zero, with a maximum of 60 deg. below. "When these figures are considered in connection with our elevation of some 5,000 feet, the unobstructed sweep of the wind and the well known fact that the lowest temperatures, as compared to freezing temperatures, are much more trying to animal life than the same temperature at sea level, it is believed that this storm beats the record as the most severe ever experienced by an Arctic party."

BUCKSPORT NEWS.

Major Hoxie Arrives to Attend to Mining of the River.

They Claim Down River that the 100 Foot Channel Will Not Help Matters Much—Seminary Commencement—Notes.

[Special to Whig and Courier.]

Bucksport, June 6. Maj. Hoxie arrived here with his crew Sunday morning and this morning began the work of mining the river according to plans furnished by the Bangor Board of Trade. The latest record from that body calls for a channel just 100 feet in width free from torpedoes. This channel is now being practiced along the west shore under the guns of the fort.

The practical river men, captains and pilots say that a channel opened there will not increase matters any except possibly for the Boston boats. Through the narrows the tide runs very strong and is extremely variable. A channel even 200 feet wide would not be sufficient for the free boats south.

It will be well for Maj. Hoxie to remain in the river until all parties are sated as those interested are likely to put in a petition to have the channel opened on the opposite side of the river.

The only practical plan is to have the mines removed altogether or there would save the expense of further work in the river and leave a free passage for the shipping thru sky shore.

Mr. Joseph Dolan will shortly return to town and reopen the Central Fish Market on Main street.

The friends and patrons of the East Maine Conference Seminary will be pleased to learn that Miss A. A. Sievers for the position with the school at the close of the present term.

Miss Wilson has removed the school faithful and effective service as preceptress and instructor for the past several years.

For several years she has contemplated this action to enable her to travel and nurse the lines of study in which she has a special interest.

At the beginning of next year Miss Wilson decided that her duty to her friends and herself made the change desirable at this time.

At the meeting of the trustees which takes place Wednesday afternoon action will be taken to fill the vacancy caused by Miss Wilson's resignation. The trustees have several applications to consider but it is not likely an election will be made immediately.

The E. M. C. S. base ball team went to Hampden Saturday to play a game with the Hampden Academy boys. The E. M. C. S. has no lead in the series of Hampden University but are very reticent about discussing the game. The score stood Hampden 41, Bucksport 23.

The first public exercise of Commencement week was held at the Methodist church Sunday evening when Rev. Wm. Forsyth Gilfoyle delivered the baccalaureate sermon before the members of the Senior class and their many friends. The services were opened by music by a chorus consisting of Misses Polsom, Ames, Emery, Godfrey, Nichols, Mrs. George Wardwell and Messrs. Brown, Snowman, Homer and Stover.

The scripture lesson was read by Rev. J. T. Hargadon, for which prayer was offered by Prest. Eliot Cheney. Mr. Haley announced himself as the Senior class Mr. Forsyth stated that as the Gladiators were about to enter the arena they turned to Cæsar with the declaration "We who are about to die salute you." "Today," he continued, "The Christians about to die say, 'We who are about to live salute you.'" The subject of his address was Visions and Their Realization. He spoke of the visions of the prophet of Goshen in captivity. The visions of youth were then considered. He showed how experience in this life does not come up to the visions of youth. "A vision," stated the speaker, "is a far reaching thing." Wishes leads to prophecy, prophecy to fulfillment."

"Whatever might to be is going to be in the long run."

"God gives us visions and then invites us to assist in their fulfillment."

"Write down the visions of thy youth, make them sweetness and endeavor for their fulfillment."

His closing remarks were addressed directly to the graduating class. He urged them to consecrate their lives to the cause of Christ. "Let your motto be 'What ought to be shall be.'"

The closing prayer was made by Prest. W. A. Hutchison.

MARSHAL SHOT

And Two Negroes Lynched.

St. Louis, Mo., June 6. A special to the Post from Clarksville, Mo., says: An excursion boat from Quincy, Ill., and Hannibal, Mo., arrived here yesterday with about 300 negroes on board. After the boat had tied up, Curtis Young, a negro, got into a fight with a colored woman named Jordan. Bryan, City Marshal Moloney went onboard to restore order. He put Curtis Young under arrest, when somebody in the crowd shot the marshal in the back and killed him. Thirteen in negroes. There was great excitement through the town when the shooting became known, and the citizens began to pile to the streets armed with guns and revolvers.

A posse of 70 men armed with guns boarded the boat and arrested Sam. Young, Curtis Young, Bob Taylor and Charles Taylor, all colored, and took them to the city jail, where they were all locked up in a jail. The arrival of the sheriff and prosecuting attorney from Bowling Green, the county seat, when these officers arrived today he found that Curtis and Sam Young had been taken from the jail and hanged to a tree. It is found that the two other men will suffer the same fate.

A House Gutted by Fire, Result of Defective Chimney.

Double Flag Raising This Evening—News Notes of General Interest.

[Special to Whig and Courier.]

Ellsworth, June 6. Mr. Campbell's story and half house near St. Joseph's school was found to be on fire about 8.00 o'clock Saturday evening, and an alarm was quickly given. The house companies responded with their usual promptness and a couple of streams of water were put into the house. The building was completely gutted. The insurance, which was $400, will about cover half the loss.

Mr. Campbell and his family were not at home when the fire broke out, but it is said a gallon of kerosene had been left in the house ready for the morning's use.

The Ellsworth Society of Natural History is making preparations for an open which they will provide the 24th of this month in the Opera House. The place of the opera "Kings of Wildland" will be sung to be a very fine thing.

UNKNOWN MAN

Found Dead on Track.

Concord, Mass., June 6. The body of a man about 22 years old was found on the tracks of the Fitchburg railroad near the station at Lake Walden early this morning. An examination of the body disclosed a bullet hole in the back which had been fired from a revolver found near by. The discovery was made by the train hands of an early freight train. A pocket book containing $6 was found in a pocket, but a hasty search failed to reveal any evidence that would lead to identification of the victim.

The body was dressed in a brown checked suit, black derby hat and russet shoes. A trail had evidently attended the body during the night, as it was badly mangled and one arm was missing. The authorities are making an investigation.

MILITARY NEWS.

Life in Camp There—Our Boys Well Equipped—Interesting Article from Our Correspondent.

[Special to Whig and Courier.]

Chickamauga Park, Lytle, Ga., June 2. The boys from Maine are now encamped in the Oak woods of Chickamauga Park, and outdoor camp life has begun with a vengeance. In the condition of this observation are encamped 40,000 volunteer troops, including infantry, cavalry and artillery, and yet an observer would declare that there are scarcely 5,000, so well are they scattered in the woods. The little country station of Lytle, Ga., formerly contained just a few antiquated buildings and only awoke when excursions were on foot, but now there is a wilderness of newshanties, government storehouses, wagon yards, restaurants, saloons, in fact a "village" which would make the street of Cape Cod in the Eastern Maine Fair cloak of its doors and go out of business. Yet in place of the summer girl and the gay colors of Northern fashionable are only the soldiers arrayed with a splendid array of colors, the latter engaged in peeling the harvests of long grasses which Uncle Sam is at present growing upon his volunteered. There is none of the pomp of war for only future authorities and worn and Southern dust impartially covers everyone from generals to privates. A photo of the regular blue many of the regiments have been supplied with brown canvas suits, cordurily suited to the hot weather.

As for camp life itself the Maine boys were marched two miles from the station and halted in the midst of a wilderness of tables. The orders were given to pitch camp and long before right each company was securely sheltered, the streets were cleared and polished, headquarters established and the guard posted. At taps each man turned in under his blanket with but a rubber ponchos and a canvas between him and mother earth and slept the sleep of the tired, arising at 5 o'clock to begin his duties and finish them before the great heat of midday. The Maine troops have been assigned to the 3d army corps, under Major Gen. Wade, and probably will be inspected very soon by Inspector Gen. Breckenridge.

Troops are moving every day for Cuba, eight regiments came yesterday morning and others going as soon as equipped. Last night the 4th fifty rang with the cheers of the regiments that had received marching orders. Indications point to an early departure for the Maine boys, for thinking to the foresight of Gen. Richards they are far better equipped than many regiments. Some of the volunteers have neither underwear nor shoes, many having barely enough for guard purposes. It is a pleasure to see a guard in decent clothes or a regiment drilling with their new with drap, except with pair of pants; many without a single military equipment. Yet Uncle Sam is hustling in the equipment just as fast as possible and very soon everyone will be fitted.

A most significant fact is that the Maine troops are the only regiments for the additional equipment with shoes in a letter from before camp was pitched. Every company of the regiment will be equipped for a 82 men up to 105. This will mean a purchase of 400 shoes for each regiment and will be forwarded to at once by Lieut. Boyden, who received orders to start when on the way down.

The Chattanooga Times, the only journal of the kind in this region, has this to say of the First Maine Volunteers:

"The men of this regiment are well drilled and fully equipped and they went to work about the camp in a manner that would cause them to be mistaken for regulars. In fact it is stated that when they were in Chattanooga they were frequent mistaken as regulars. There is no doubt that they are a fine lot of men and thoroughly know their business. They make one of the finest appearances made by any of the volunteer regiments at the front. Adjt. Gen. McArthur complimented the regiment very highly on the good showing made. The regiment will probably be among the last regiments to leave the camp.

"All very well for a Southern paper and compliments while have not been extended to each regiment upon arrival, as might be imagined.

FREEDOM FROM SICKNESS.

Very little sickness has prevailed so far in the regiment. All cases of illness are of a simple nature, generally cramps or stomach troubles. This is owing to the fact that the officers are very strict concerning intoxicants upon the trip down. If a man slipped from his train he was overhauled upon his return and his duties had destroyed. All this was received upon the dignity of martials, taken early on, as drinking water was secure in plenty, and for future interest and no one did more than raise a laugh. The laugh was upon the "Cong." Though, when the mess porter of the Pullman car distributed a case of lager among the boys, only for a generous consideration however. Here in the park beer is sold freely for it is merely bottled than the polluted water which is supplied. Water is plenty enough such as it is, for the government has built a pipe, but it is not fit for drinking purposes, and is blood-warm.

REPTILES A-PLENTY.

In just one respect Georgia beats Maine and that in regard to crawlers, for lizards, snakes and spiders, with dozens of unknown horrors are slipping, swarming, hop, skip and jumping over and in length, climbing walls or walk upon the ground in perfect ease. Of course every one calls them poisonous, but naturally a story falls to say so. DOVER NEWS.

Cordial Reception to Rev. Mr. Irvine, M. E. Church, Pastor—Post-office Mystery That May Develope Soon—Entertainments, Notes Personal and Social.

Dover, June 6. A very pretty reception took place at the parlors of the Methodist Episcopal church Friday evening when the members of the church in Dover and Foxcroft welcomed to their charge the newly appointed minister, Rev. J. H. Irvine. Although a very informal affair the reception was none the less heavy and was attended by a large number of the church members besides many from other churches. The first part of the evening was spent in social chat and in making acquaintances, after which a short musical programme was very successfully carried out. Mr. Sanford Ritchie, who had charge of the ceremonies, in one of his characteristic happy little speeches then welcomed the new pastor and his family to the church on behalf of its members and predicted that it would be a prosperous one for the church. Mr. Ritchie then introduced Elder A. H. Kearney, pastor of the Second Advent church, who said he had long been acquainted with Mr. Irvine and knew him to be a man of God. He congratulated the M. E. church on being so fortunate as to secure Mr. Irvine for a pastor. Elder Kearney was followed by Mr. E. A. Ireland in a line of speech. Next Mr. Irvine then responded in a feeling manner, expressing his appreciation of the hearty reception tendered him, and giving whatever honor there might be to Jesus, and said he no doubt the people and pastor would work together harmoniously for the advancement of righteousness. When Mr. Irvine had finished there was a pause, after which refreshments consisting of cake and coffee, oranges and bananas were served by the ladies, and the company, after enjoying social half hour, broke up at a late hour, after wishing Mr. Irvine a successful year in his new charge.

Not for a long time have signs of an revival in the twin towns of Dover and Foxcroft been there in evidence than at the present time. Work in the Brown Mohair Manufacturing Company's woolen mill, which for several months has been idle, is now happening, and it seems probable that before long the entire mill will be in operation, as the company has recently received a large order from the government for shoes to be made in Dover for the soldiers, and this with several other orders already in hand will be sufficient to keep the mill in operation during the summer even should no more orders be received during that time, which is quite improbable. So much do the business interests of the two town depend upon the prosperity of the manufacturing establishment that business can not revive as happens when this mill is once more running on full time.

Nor is this all, for a new industry has just been started that does fair to become assume large proportions. Geo. H. Moreycroft, who for the past few months has been working in Roxbury, Mass., operating into particular use a newly invented machine for making shoes, has arranged and holding a factory of the well in which Mr. Husband conducts his business, is engaged in the manufacture of novelties. Just now he is working on a large order from R. Tichenor, of New York, and has under consideration another large order from Mr. Stillins, of Boston. The prosperity which must necessarily result from this increase in business must soon be felt, and there seems every reason to believe that in spite of the present war Dover and Foxcroft will soon see the return of the prosperity we enjoyed before the hard times of '93.

Don. Wainwright Cushing left on the Maine Central Friday morning for Washington.

E. B. Dipsmore has started on a bicycle tour through New England, and will visit his brother in St. Johnsbury, Vt., before he returns home, which he expects to do in about three weeks.

Mel Harvey Greeley has returned from a visit in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. McSorley, of Guilford, are here visiting relatives in town for a few days.

At the last meeting of C. S. Davis Woman's Relief Corps, No. 42, the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Edith Oakes; vice president, Mrs. Ruth Knowlton; secretary, Mrs. Sarah A. Martin; treasurer, Mrs. N. J. Dunning; chaplain, Mrs. Harriet E. Tilton; conductor, Mrs. Mary Bickford; guard, Mrs. Hannah Hubbard; past president, Mrs. Emma Stanhope.

A pleasant entertainment was given at the people's Baptist church Wednesday evening by the Young People's Christian Endeavor Society called "The Voices of Nature," which attracted quite a large audience. The "voices of nature" were represented as follows:

Flowers—Buttercup, Miss Belle Stanhope; sunflower, Miss Ida Rozbery; violet, Miss Lenny Rogers; daisy, Miss Edna Tripp; sunshine, Miss Lillian Foss.

Birds—King of birds, Curtis Fowler; robin, Harry Tripp; frogs, Harold Shurtleff and Elias Hutchins.

Bees—Queen of bees, Miss Hazel Colby; lively bee, Charles Stanhope; drone, William Rogers; bees, Misses Florence Cole and Zilla Newman.

Misses Olive Cossman, Mildred Whitney, Alice Higgins and Ora Alcorn conducted the confectionery, lemonade and fruit department, which received a very liberal patronage.

Commencing Saturday W. G. Buswell and C. A. Hale will close their dental parlors Saturday afternoons during the summer months.

The Mohawk Fishing Club of Boston passed through here Thursday on the way home from Kineo after nine days of week's outing. The club is composed of ten of Boston's prominent business men and they were dressed in fine coat, trousers and vest and well filled.

Dr. H. A. Robinson advertises that he will exchange dentistry for some strip of trout.

It was reported Friday afternoon that some children playing in a lot of refuse from the Dover postoffice that had been dumped near Green street in Foxcroft, found some valuable mail matter that had never been opened, also that letters containing money and one containing a check for $103 for Hon. M. H. Lowster had been found. The Whig reporter called at the Dover postoffice in the afternoon to see if the postmaster had heard of the report but was unable to see Mr. Aver as he was out. The lady in charge of the office during his absence, however, said she knew nothing of the report story, but that they had recently cleaned the office of all the papers, and that if anything some letters to the postmaster might have been in with the papers. It is reported that a detective had been at work on the case for three or four days and further development will be awaited for with interest.

The Dexter Dispatch, for the bulletin over display at the new Universalist church at Sangerville on Tuesday, has just been issued from the press of Fred D. Hayes. The programme is an pamphlet form, containing four pages, and in the center of the first page is a fine cut of the church itself. Mr. Barrows has also just printed the report of the building committee. Below the report is a blank for those who wish to give something toward the building fund of the church. A guard will have with the treasurer, Geo. L. Barrows, Sangerville.

Rev. Lester H. A. Howard, of Waterville, was in town recently superintending the work on the railroad tracks which are now laid as far as the Dover station. The track is laid to level with the platform which renovated, the chance in crossing the tracks that exists between the tracks were quite a distance below the platform. Mr. Howard will probably return Monday to complete the work.

Messrs. S. R. Kingsley and Dr. Emerson have been making extensive improvements to their respective dwellings which when completed will add much to their appearance.

Next Sunday will be observed as children's day at the Hammond street church. On Monday, June 13, will be held the annual strawberry festival at the chapel.

Mr. Thomas Green and Mrs. Gavel, of the Hammond street church choir, have just passed their birthdays and have attained a great age. The former had his 92d birthday, the latter the 81st. Mr. Green was received into membership April 2, 1837. He has been confined to his room for a long time.

The annual meeting of the Stockholders of the Maine Telegraph Company, will be held at the office of Hon. J. W. Paine at 3 o'clock on Saturday, June 25 to choose a board of directors for the ensuing year, and to transact any other business which may come before them.

Mrs. Margaret Dye Ellis of Washington, who is to speak at the First Methodist church next Sunday evening, has been addressing the annual convention of the W. C. T. U. at the special invitation of Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens. She is an able and attractive speaker and will be heard with much interest by many in this county, who were deprived of the privilege by her temporary illness at the time of Dr. Dio Lewis' visit.

The young people of the Universalist church are arranging for a lawn party and social next June. This church is in the care of Rev. Edwin C. Guild on Webster avenue.

The opening concert of the Bangor band will be given this evening at 8 o'clock on Center park. The programme will be "The Pride of the Navy," Mr. Andrews' famous military march.

Early Monday morning the buildings on the Leopold Gordon farm on the Fuller road, about five miles from the city, were totally destroyed by fire. The property was owned by John Patten and was valued at $3,000. The cause of the fire is unknown. The buildings were uninsured.

The steamer Penobscot arrived in this port on Monday morning about 7 o'clock having missed the trip on Sunday on account of the storm. She did not leave Boston until 6 o'clock Sunday morning and after arriving at Sandy Point remained there until 3 o'clock yesterday morning waiting for daylight for the trip up the river. When the steamer reached Hampden the captain learned that it was unusually low tide here, so the Penobscot was held at Hampden for about three quarters of an hour. Passengers who desired to catch the early morning train here were brought up in carriages. It was a unique occurrence for the Penobscot to get onshore in the tortuous Penobscot River, but there was no truth in the report.

DELEGATES ELECTED.

At a Republican caucus held in Belfast Saturday the following delegates were elected to attend the State convention at Augusta: C. H. Toothaker, S. O. Tasker and J. E. Craig.

To attend the district convention at Bangor: L. I. Hussey, E. E. Brown and A. P. Tasker.

To attend the county convention held in Bangor: W. H. Toothaker, S. O. Morse, J. H. Gray and S. C. Simpson.

The following town committee was elected: B. F. Porter, S. C. Simpson, J. P. Gray, S. O. Morse, W. H. Toothaker and G. W. Tasker.

LOCAL—BOWDOIN.

Game at Orono Won by U. of M. 5 to 1.

At Orono on Monday University of Maine and Bowdoin played a league game and U. of M. won by a score of 5 to 1. Had Bowdoin won, she would have been reasonably sure of the championship, but as it is now she is tied with U. of M. for first place. Bowdoin lost by inability to get Cushman and by errors of Bryant at third base, but it can be said that the chances on which his made the errors were difficult ones. It was a clean, well played game and a battle of pitchers, Libby doing excellent work as well as Cushman.

Conway of Oldtown, Dartmouth '97, umpired impartially and with good judgment.

FIRST INNING.

Bowdoin was first at bat. Greenlaw drew a base on balls but went on at 2d on Wignott's grounder to Pretto. Wignott was out at second on Bryant's grounder to Pretto. Bacon was out by being hit by his own batted ball.

Pretto flew out to Stanwood. Palmer drew a base on balls. Dolley got first on Bryant's error. Small struck out. Welch was out on a fly to Haskell.

SECOND INNING.

Clarke went out Sprague to Small. Libby was out on a fly to Dolley. Cloudman struck out.

Braun got first on a bad throw to Libby but got on an attempt to steal second. Sprague was out Libby to Bacon. Clarke was out on a fly to Bryant.

THIRD INNING.

Haskell drew a base on balls. Stanwood struck out. Greenlaw made a hit. Wignott struck out. Bryant was out Sprague to Small on a grounder.

Cushman was out on a grounder Clarke to Bacon. Pretto was out on a fly to Bryant. Palmer got first by hit. Dolley was out on a fly to Greenlaw.

FOURTH INNING.

Bacon went out on a grounder Sprague to Small. Clarke got first on a hit to left field and got third on a bad throw by Clarke to catch him at second base. Clarke came home on Libby's fly to right field. Cloudman was third out Cushman to Small.

Score—Bowdoin 1.

Small struck out. Welch made a hit and stole second. Braun struck out. Sprague made a hit to center field and brought in Welch. On the throw in Sprague got third. Clarke made a hit and brought Sprague in. Cushman struck out.

Score—U. of M. 2, Bowdoin 1.

FIFTH INNING.

Haskell went out on a grounder to Small. Stanwood struck out. Greenlaw made a hit to center field. Wignott was out Dolley to Small.

Pretto was out on a fly to Greenlaw. Palmer hit to center field. Palmer was out stealing second. Dolley took first on balls. Small went out on a fly to Stanwood.

SIXTH INNING.

Bryant was out on a grounder to Small. Bacon made a hit to center field. Clarke struck out. Bacon stole second. Libby flew out to Braun. Welch got first on an error by Bryant. Braun got first on a ruff by Bryant. Pretto got hit and the bases were full. Clarke hit to Clarke who made a low throw and Welch scored. Braun was forced out at the plate and Sprague and Clarke scored. Palmer fouled out to Wignott. Dolley was out on a grounder hit to Bacon.

Score—U. of M. 5, Bowdoin 1.

SEVENTH INNING.

Cloudman was out on a fly to Palmer. Haskell fouled out to Clarke. Stanwood was out on a grounder to Cushman who threw to first.

Small was out on a fly to Greenlaw. Welch was out on a grounder Libby to Bacon. Braun took first on balls and stole second. Sprague was out on a grounder to Bacon.

EIGHTH INNING.

Greenlaw got first on balls. Wignott made a hit and Greenlaw took second. Bryant hit to second and Wignott was out. Bryant stole second. Bacon struck out. Clarke out.

Clarke was out on a grounder to Libby who threw to first. Cushman was out Bryant to Bacon. Pretto got first on Bryant's error. Palmer made a hit. Pretto took third and Palmer second. Dolley was out Libby to Bacon.

NINTH INNING.

Libby struck out. Cloudman struck. Haskell got first on balls. Pratt made a hit to right field. Greenlaw struck out.

NOTES.

Colby will play U. of M. at Orono on Wednesday at 3 P. M. and another fast game may be expected.

The Newtown (Mass.) Athletic Association U. of M. game scheduled for next Saturday at Orono has been cancelled.

A party of five from Deer Island went to the Outlet, Moosehead lake, on Sunday and caught 70 trout, 60 being square tailed.

Blake, Barrows & Brown received a cablegram from Queenstown on Monday announcing the arrival there that day of the steamship Catalonia, Cunard line, Boston to Queenstown, having on board Miss Young and Miss Files from this city. Miss Paine and Miss Files are nursing at the Eastern Maine General hospital and will remain in Boston several months during their hard training study.

Messrs. Charles H. Howes and W. K. Hallett returned Monday from a fishing trip of few days at Moosehead lake and brought home a string of fine trout.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Rowe returned on Monday from the Crows Nest, Moosehead lake. Yesterday before breakfast they went fishing and caught three lakers and four square tailed trout less than a lb. from the Crows Nest and just off Burnt Jacket Point. Mrs. Rowe caught a square tailed trout weighing three pounds.
